5 Wilson Bills Among Those Ave Vetoed

Mahoney Is Strong on Criticism

GOP Nominations Are Unanimous

Four candidates were nominated for county office at the Ulster County Republican Convention Saturday in the municipal auditorium and others endorsed — with the keynote, State Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney, blasting away at the Harriman administration for what he described as its "amazing inconsistency, incredible vetoes and callous indifference."

All nominations were unanimous and without contest. The weather was cool and the convention quiet.

List of Nominations

The following were nominated as scheduled:

Former City Judge Raymond J. Mino for district attorney.

Albert N. Cook, incumbent, for county treasurer.

Arthur C. Chipp, Kerhonkson, coroner, a post he formerly held.

Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson of Woodstock, Ulster County GOP chairman, to succeed himself.

State Senator E. Ogden Bush, Walton, Delaware County, and Congressman J. Ernest Wharton, Richmondville, Schoharie County, were endorsed for reelection.

Elsworth Endorsed

Supreme Court Justice Roscoe V. Elsworth was endorsed for reelection to a third term as Supreme Court Justice of the Third Judicial District.

Sen. Bush as representative of the 34th Senatorial District in the state legislature handles legislation for four counties — Ulster, Delaware, Sullivan and Greene.

Congressman Wharton from the 29th Congressional District represents five counties in Washington, D. C. — Schoharie, Ulster, Greene, Dutchess and Columbia.

Mahoney told the convention that "never in the history of the state has there been a governor with such a glaring refusal or reluctance to take a position on an issue and stick to it. Since January, 1955, the story of the Harriman administration has been a series of inconsistencies and reversals of position. He has opposed Republican legislation, then signed it and claimed credit for it. He has vetoed a measure one year and signed an almost identical measure the next year — or even later in the same session."

Vetoes Five on Wilson

He said there were dozens of such reversals and cited a number of them.

In connection with the Harriman veto, it has been pointed out that five bills introduced in the last session by Assemblyman Wilson were vetoed by the Governor. These were:

1. A bill to amend the vehicle and traffic law in relation to providing for the surrender to and restoration by county clerks or registers of operators' licenses. This bill would have expedited the restoration of licenses by several months and would have relieved to a considerable extent the workload of the Motor Vehicle Bureau at Albany. This bill passed the Assembly and Senate but was vetoed by the Governor.

Still Costs Taxpayers

2. A bill to amend the civil practice act in relation to fees of the county clerk of Ulster.

Macmillan Asks Closer U. S. Economic Bonds

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan appealed Sunday for closer economic ties between his country and the United States.

In a nationally televised commencement address at De Pauw University at Greencastle, Ind., the Prime Minister said, "There are still too many artificial barriers to the free flow of money and trade in the free world."

Now that "we all face a common danger," Macmillan said, interdependence must be the "key-note of the second half of the 20th century if the progress of humanity is to continue."

The Prime Minister left Indianapolis in his chartered Britannia prop-jet plane today for Washington and talks with President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles.

He was scheduled to confer with the President and Dulles after lunch at the British Embassy.

To Accompany Ike

He will accompany Eisenhower by helicopter to Johns Hopkins University Tuesday to receive an honorary degree and make the commencement address.

The British chief of state made a plea Sunday for closer economic ties between his country and the United States in a nationally televised commencement speech at De Pauw University in Greencastle, Ind.

"There are still too many artificial barriers to the free flow of money and trade in the free world," Macmillan said.

In a 21-hour sweep through Indiana official and social affairs, Macmillan emphasized these things:

1. He considers Gen. Charles de Gaulle, France's new premier, a friend and hopes France will solve many of its problems under De Gaulle's leadership.

2. "Prosperity is not indivisible; there are too many artificial barriers to the free flow of money and trade in the free world."

3. Russians are "very intelligent people (who) will not be content forever with what is called the materialistic doctrine."

Living Better

4. "In the long run, the free world will defend itself and win adherence to itself because our way of life gives a better way of living, a fuller life to the individual, security and hope."

The official reason for Macmillan's visit was to address the graduating class at De Pauw, 40 miles west of Indianapolis, and to receive an honorary doctor of laws degree.

He visited Indiana almost two years ago, before he was prime minister, to tour the neighborhood where his mother, the late Helen Artie Belles Macmillan, spent her girlhood.

Macmillan was greeted with affection and applause wherever he appeared in the Hoosier State.

Mass. Congressman Not Candidate in '58

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Richard B. Wigglesworth (R-Mass.), a member of Congress since 1928, announced today he will not seek reelection in November.

The 67-year-old congressman said in a statement: "After long and careful thought in the light of personal considerations, I have decided to relinquish the exacting responsibilities that have been mine as a member of Congress at the end of the present term."

Clinton Sold For Runs on Mexico Gulf

Ferryboat George Clinton, in service several years, between Kingston and Rhinecliff, was sold June 4 to the Panamerican Trading and Development Co., John S. Stillman, chairman of the New York State Bridge Authority reported today.

Price Is $75,000

The sale for $75,000 followed a series of negotiations between Stillman and J. N. Blow, of the Pan-American corporation. The ferry, after about a decade of service here, stopped operation just prior to the opening of the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge early in 1957. It will be in service in a southern area of the Gulf of Mexico.

After other attempts to sell the ferry, Stillman last April, visiting in Mexico learned of the pending activation of a ferry service on a new highway near the southern edge of the Gulf of Mexico. Following this lead Stillman developed the interest of the Panamerican firm in the Clinton.

The Clinton is an all-steel, diesel engine craft of 373 gross tons. She formerly ran on the 69th Street ferry run and in Lake Champlain under the names the Richmond and City of Plattsburg.

The price of $75,000 was on a "where is—as is" basis and is considered to be very favorable to the authority in view of the past experience in trying to sell the vessel.

A slim mother of two, divorced from her husband some seven years ago, shot and killed Edward Katzenberger, 44, and then committed suicide with the same rifle. She is Mrs. Helen Stevenson, 39, who resided in a trailer on Honk Hill, Napanoch.

The shooting, which state police say may have come after a quarrel, took place while her two children were away at church with their father, Henry Stevenson.

Neighbor Calls Troopers

About 9:30 o'clock Sunday morning a neighbor, Clarence Kidney, called Ellenville state police and informed them there had been a shooting at the Stevenson trailer at Honk Hill, just off Continental Road.

Katzenberger was found about 75 feet from the trailer dead from a .22 calibre bullet found in his side and Mrs. Stevenson was found dead on her bed in the trailer from a bullet wound in the head.

Collapses Nearby

Apparently she had shot Katzenberger, who ran from the trailer and collapsed a short distance away, and then turned the rifle on herself. She was shot through the right temple and the bullet exited through the top of the head.

Coroner Dr. Charles Rosenstock of Ellenville after an investigation pronounced it a case of murder and suicide.

According to the facts revealed by the state police investigation, Mrs. Stevenson resided at Napanoch for some time with her two children, Patricia, 10 and Robert, 18. As was his custom, their father Henry Stevenson, who is employed in construction work up state and resides at the Troy

Menshikov Sticks by Accused

Says All Soviets Told to Do Right

WASHINGTON (AP)—Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov says a junior Soviet diplomat denies trying to buy American military secrets. All Russians in this country, Menshikov says, are forbidden to do anything improper.

Menshikov told a TV panel that Nikolai I. Kurochkin, the Soviet Embassy's third secretary, has denied State Department charges that he sought to purchase secret military documents from Charles T. Beaumont, an American magazine writer.

Sticks With Him

"And I have no reason not to believe him," Menshikov said. Kurochkin was ordered Saturday to leave the United States on grounds he paid hundreds of dollars for Army manuals and other materials and tried to get secret documents. He is expected to start for home later this week.

Beaumont, a 25-year-old magazine writer living in nearby Arlington, Va., said he never gave any classified information to the Russians. Beaumont said he furnished Kurochkin some non-secret material, part of which "was already in the papers." For this, Beaumont said, he received $435 over a period of months, starting last year.

No Action Planned

Justice Department officials said Beaumont cooperated with government investigators after they questioned him about his transactions with Kurochkin. Officials said Beaumont since has registered as a foreign agent and that the department planned no action against him.

The move to oust Kurochkin for "highly improper activities" came about three weeks after the Soviet

Knaust Mushroom Building Levelled By $100,000 Fire

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—A four-story wooden growing house at the Knaust Brothers mushroom plant in nearby Coeymans was destroyed by a wind-fanned fire Sunday.

No one was hurt. Damage was estimated at $100,000.

The stiff southwest wind kept the flames away from several houses. Had the wind shifted, Fire Chief Frank Swarthout said "we might have lost half the village."

Another mushroom building and two homes were damaged slightly.

More than 200 volunteer firemen from six companies battled the flames, which spiraled 200 feet into the air.

Rifle Near Body

On investigating the officers found the Mossberg .22 rifle in the trailer near Mrs. Stevenson. She was dead on the bed.

Mrs. Helen Stevenson, 39, was born in Bronx, a daughter of the late Peter and Christine Pfeiffer Snyder. Surviving is a son, Robert, 18, and a daughter, Patricia, 10, both at home; two sisters, Jeanne Anderson of Cedar Grove, N. J., and Mrs. Margaret Bloomfield of Grand Rapids, Mich., and several nieces and nephews. Funeral arrangements are pending at the Loucks Funeral Home, 79 North Main Street, Ellenville.

Edmund R. Katzenberger, 44, of 14 Yankee Place, Ellenville, was born in Ossining, April 6, 1914, son of Edmund and May Lyons Katzenberger. He was a veteran of World War II. Funeral services will be held in Ossining, Thursday, at the Dorsey Funeral Home.

Units of Fleet Training For Middle East Rescues

WITH U.S. 6TH FLEET, Off Dikili, Turkey (AP)—Major units of this mighty Mediterranean fleet assembled off the Turkish coast today to train in rescuing Americans from the turbulent countries of the Middle East.

The heavily armed amphibious force of Marines, backed up by sailors and naval aviators, are practicing for duty they might face at any moment.

If the crisis deepened in Lebanon, only 12 hours steaming to the south, the units could switch from training to the real thing. The fleet is currently reinforced by 18 ships over the usual 50 and by double the usual complement of 1,800 Marines.

At dawn, transports, warships and landing ships maneuvered around the Greek island off Les-

Regenerate Free World's Economy, Talk Power With Reds, Stevenson Advises

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson says new steps to regenerate the free world economy and a power equality agreement with Russia are needed to clear a path for arms reduction.

Speaking Sunday at Michigan State University graduation exercises, Stevenson also called for United States aid to France in her present crisis and world sharing of medical research and health knowledge.

Cites Marshall Plan

The Democratic leader suggested borrowing from the Marshall Plan approach of 10 years ago to infuse vigor into the West's "tottering economic systems."

Stevenson proposed setting up a committee of experts comparable with the group which laid the groundwork for the Marshall Plan.

The experts, he said, should be assigned the job of preparing an agenda upon which nations can agree and act.

Outlines Program

It would take in: "Joint measures to secure sustained growth, joint negotiations for a low tariff of free trade, joint undertaking of a long-term aid and investment program in the underdeveloped areas and joint agreement on adequate working capital for world trade."

Such a free world agenda "would go far to revive the conditions under which the old, unfettered, expansive system of free international trade once worked."

Stevenson said a deterioration of the old system confronts us with "a creeping crisis, not as dramatic but maybe more serious and more far reaching than the Marshall Plan was designed to meet."

Communists Eager

"As it recedes, we see, expanding eager to take its place, the new Communist techniques of grants, gifts, loans, trade, aid, barter, technical assistance, raw materials at cost, or plain dumping, all bent to a single political purpose — the reinforcement of Communist power," he said.

Stevenson said formal U. S. Soviet recognition of their power equality and mutual agreement to preserve it would follow logically from the facts of what is presently keeping the peace.

This course, he said, would create confidence and open an avenue for arms reduction.

Stevenson told a news conference after the commencement that he plans to visit the Soviet Union this summer on a trip which will take him into Soviet areas previously forbidden to foreigners.

First Nuclear-Powered Plane Seen Pilotless

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's first nuclear-powered aircraft may be unmanned and radio controlled.

It may circle for six months or a year, remote from populated regions, and then be landed for detailed studies of radiation, wear and parts fatigue.

Such a test flight could bring to light any unsuspected problems and help assure safety of crews later.

These possibilities were being discussed in the aviation industry today in the light of a new brochure on "Aircraft Nuclear Propulsion Systems Applications for the National Defense," distributed by General Electric Atomic Products Division.

Five Years Work

The GE Aircraft Nuclear Propulsion Department, Cincinnati, has been working for more than five years to develop materials, methods and engineering concepts for nuclear aircraft. Work has been under way both at its Evanston, Ohio, plant and at the Idaho Falls, Idaho, atomic energy installation.

Reporting "gratifying results of component tests," the GE brochure said, "Nuclear powered aircraft are capable of remaining in their element air for the major portion of their life."

The operator Howard Kenneth Potter was thrown from the 1952 Buick car and received severe injuries to his nose, knee and head and was taken to Veterans Memorial Hospital, Ellenville, suffering from shock. His condition today was reported as improved.

State Police at Ellenville were notified of the accident and made an investigation. Dr. Lee Tompkins, Sullivan County coroner was also summoned and conducted an investigation.

Strikes Culvert

The car was traveling west around a slight curve, state police reported, when it went off the road into a ditch and after traveling 180 feet struck a concrete culvert abutment and came to rest on the easterly side of the road.

Russia To Leave Say To Sector Craft, Crew Held Following Landing

BERLIN (AP)—Russia refused today to take responsibility for the nine U.S. Army men taken prisoner by the East German Communists Saturday when their helicopter made a forced landing inside the satellite.

Keeping up its campaign to force Western recognition of the puppet Communist government, the Russian embassy in East Berlin declared that the East German regime has jurisdiction over the American prisoners and their aircraft because the helicopter came down outside the three Allied air corridors to West Berlin.

Wrangle Seen

Russia guarantees free Allied air traffic through these corridors under a 1949 Big Four agreement.

The Soviet embassy statement indicated the United States and Russia were heading into a big diplomatic wrangle over the nine Americans.

The Russian statement was in response to a newsmen's question whether Russia or East Germany had jurisdiction over the American.

Earlier the East German government claimed it has the right to say what will be done with the helicopter and those aboard it.

A Russian Embassy spokesman said the nine Americans were being held by "responsible organs of the German Democratic Republic." He said all were well and none was injured when the helicopter came down.

Asked about rumors they had been moved from the frontier area to East Berlin, the spokesman said he thought this unlikely.

The United States does not recognize the East German Communist regime and had demanded that the Soviets in East Berlin promptly return the eight Army officers, one sergeant and their aircraft.

Must Deal With Soviet

The Western Allies contend that in accordance with the postwar four-power agreements on Germany, all their dealings concerning East Germany must be with the Soviet Union.

The helicopter belonged to the 3rd Armored Division and had been on a military exercise. U. S. authorities assumed the craft turned east due to a navigational error in a thunderstorm and ran out of gas.

It came down at Zwickau, 30 miles east of the border. The Soviet army headquarters in East Berlin said all nine men were safe and unharmed.

Protest Note Sent

The East German Foreign Ministry announced it had sent the U. S. State Department a note protesting that East German air space had been violated. The Foreign Ministry followed up today with a declaration that the fact it had sent its protest direct to the State Department showed the East German regime—and not the Soviets—has jurisdiction in the matter.

A Belgian jet fighter was forced down in East Germany 12 days ago. The Soviets have referred all Belgian queries to the East Germans.

Names Not Listed

The Americans still refused to announce the names of the nine men in the helicopter, contending that all the next-of-kin had not been notified. The Army did not

Units of Fleet Training For Middle East Rescues

WITH U.S. 6TH FLEET, Off Dikili, Turkey (AP)—Major units of this mighty Mediterranean fleet assembled off the Turkish coast today to train in rescuing Americans from the turbulent countries of the Middle East.

The heavily armed amphibious force of Marines, backed up by sailors and naval aviators, are practicing for duty they might face at any moment.

If the crisis deepened in Lebanon, only 12 hours steaming to the south, the units could switch from training to the real thing. The fleet is currently reinforced by 18 ships over the usual 50 and by double the usual complement of 1,800 Marines.

At dawn, transports, warships and landing ships maneuvered around the Greek island off Lesbos for a landing near Dikili. The amphibious task force was backed up by the cruiser Des Moines, the 6th Fleet's flagship, its sister ship the Salem and a screen of destroyers to give gunfire support.

Farther out to sea lay the carriers Saratoga and Essex to lend air cover with nearly 200 planes—including jets capable of carrying nuclear bombs.

A third carrier, the Wasp, was part of the reinforcements. One of the day's problems was to establish a beachhead on two miles of coast and control an area within a 25-mile radius by artillery, planes and gunfire.

After the exercise, the bulk of the fleet leaves for a visit to Greek and Turkish ports — still only about a day's forced sailing from smoldering Lebanon.

Rockefeller Is Strongest, Morhouse Reportedly Says

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Former Republican national chairman Leonard W. Hall could be facing a problem. His state chairman is reported to be telling party leaders that Nelson Rockefeller would make the strongest race for New York governor.

State Chairman L. Judson Morhouse insists that he is not in the Rockefeller corner, or anybody else's corner, the pre-convention jousting for the nomination.

But Morhouse would not deny—or confirm—a New York Times story Sunday that private polls had convinced him that Rockefeller would make the more potent showing against Democratic Gov. Harriman.

Morhouse was reported to be fearful that backers of Hall and State Senate Walter J. Mahoney would gang up on Rockefeller.

After the Times' story, Morhouse issued a statement in which he conceded that he was pointing out the results of private polls to GOP county chairmen. He refused to say what man the polls placed on top.

"My responsibility, as I see it, is to help in the selection of a winning ticket and to prepare the party organization for the most effective support of the nominated candidates in the campaign," Morhouse declared.

He said he had not expressed any personal preference for a GOP gubernatorial candidate. He added:

"I am pointing out to party leaders the results of private polls indicating the comparative public

Army Still Needs 900,000 Men, Brucker Declares

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Army Brucker said today he still feels the Army needs a minimum of 900,000 men, but he is bound by the decision of superiors not to resist a 30,000 cutback.

Brucker testified before a Senate appropriations subcommittee which is considering an unasked 99 million dollars to keep the Army at its present strength. The money was tacked on the Defense Department appropriations bill by the House.

Under questioning by Chairman Dennis Chavez (D-NM), Brucker said the Army recommended to Secretary of Defense McElroy last September an increase in Army manpower to 925,000. At that time, Brucker said, the Defense Department had tentatively ordered a cutback to 850,000 but on appeal McElroy agreed to fix the limit at 870,000 men.

'Bound by Decision'
Brucker said he and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Army chief of staff, "are bound by the decision of our superiors." He added, "we've done all in our power." Chavez reminded Brucker that he could express an opinion without bucking the decision.

Brucker then told the senator: "I can say that we have seen nothing since last September to change the logic of our request. On the contrary, we see many things to corroborate our judgment. But we are not here in any sense to upset the decision of our superiors."

The subcommittee is considering the biggest annual money bill, carrying 3 1/2 billion dollars of new money to operate the nation's military forces for the year that begins July 1. It passed the House Thursday.

Brucker, with Taylor at his side, said the opinion of all the experts in his command is that 15 divisions of at least 900,000 men is the minimum defense requirement for an adequate Army.

McElroy last Friday asked the senators to trim out an extra quarter of a billion dollars voted by the House to prevent cutbacks in the manpower of regular and reserve forces of the Army and Marines.

He said modern weapons enabled the Defense Department to recommend the cutback.

For more than 150 years New York has been the most important center of foreign trade in the United States.

5 Wilson Bills

county for filing certain maps. This bill would have corrected the inequities in the costs of filing maps. Under the existing statute, the fees for the filing of maps are $2 for a map 20 inches by 20 inches and $3 if larger. These fees are totally inadequate for the reason that in many cases it costs more to prepare the maps for mounting and providing the large map books than the county receives as a fee. This bill provided for a fee of $10 for all maps 20 by 20 and $15 for larger. If this bill had become law, the costs would have been borne by those filing the maps, which is as it should be, and not a burden on the entire community. This bill passed the Assembly and Senate but was vetoed by the Governor.

3. A bill to authorize the town of Rochester to audit and pay certain claims and to provide for the financing of the payments thereof. The town highway department expended certain money in its operation prior to Jan. 1, 1958, which have not been paid. This bill would have authorized the town to borrow money to pay this debt. This bill passed the Assembly and Senate but was vetoed by the Governor.

Others Vetoed

4. A bill to amend the tax law in relation to penalties and interest on unpaid taxes in Ulster County. This bill would have given some relief to the taxpayer who finds himself unable to meet the entire amount of taxes due before February 1. This bill passed the Assembly and Senate but was vetoed by the Governor.

5. A bill to amend the civil practice act in relation to procedure during incapacity, disqualification or absence from the county of the county judge. This bill would have allowed the surrogate to act in this case. It would have been not only a saving to the taxpayer but it would have expedited the work of the courts. This bill passed the Assembly and Senate but was vetoed by the Governor.

Points to Record

Ray Howe of Esopus, deputy clerk of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors, introduced a resolution endorsing Judge Elsworth for a third term on the Supreme Court Bench.

He pointed out that Judge Elsworth was first elected in 1934 and had served two 12-year terms, that his record as a jurist was outstanding and that he had conducted his office in a manner to bring credit to himself and to the bench.

Two Endorsed

A resolution endorsing the candidacy of Congressman Wharton for reelection was introduced by Roy Webber of the town of Marletown.

Wharton said in reply that he was "very happy" to be in "your fair city" again and expressed his appreciation for the endorsement of the convention. He promised his continued efforts in the interests of the county.

Sen. Bush expressed his appreciation for the support of the convention and said he was "tickled to death to be here today." The resolution endorsing Bush was made by Arthur Reilly, town of Ulster.

He praised Wilson, who served as chairman of the convention, for his "excellent judgment," pointing out that "no problem is too small for him" and that he is highly respected in the Assembly. He also praised Sen. Mahoney and said he would make an excellent candidate for Governor, "a campaign which will not be easy."

Urges Wilson Support

Anthony de Lisio of the town of Woodstock nominated Assemblyman Wilson for reelection, pointing out that Wilson was a young man who had served honestly and well. He said Wilson had "made me very happy because of the way he has conducted himself" and because of his efforts in behalf of Ulster County.

He pointed out that "we made no mistake in electing Ken Wilson" and that Wilson "needs us" right now because of many things that have happened which he has nothing to do with.

Benjamin Schecter of Kingston seconded the nomination, calling attention to his achievements and personality. He said it is easy to see what makes him an excellent representative, that he has "genuine liking for people and genuine concern in their interests."

Devoted To Party

He pointed out that people come to Wilson for all kinds of help, that he is liked and respected by all, dedicated to American principles, devoted to the Republican party.

Wilson said in reply that he was deeply appreciative of the honor conferred on him.

St. John for Mino

Howard C. St. John of Kingston, Ulster County district attorney, extended his "heartfelt appreciation" for past support. He pointed out that the position of district attorney required experience in criminal law and that Raymond J. Mino had such experience, having served for eight years as city judge.

He said Mino was a man of good judgment, demonstrated in 20 years of practice in the courts of the state, that he was clean-living and respected, a lifelong resident of Kingston, a lifelong Republican, a father and believer in Christian principles.

Hard Campaigner

St. John said we need a fighting man who will go out to win the election and that Mino was that type of campaigner.

Attorney Harry Gold of Kingston seconded the nomination, calling attention to his own long association with Mino—eight years in city court where Gold served as Special City Judge.

Gold also accepted the nomination in behalf of Mino who is now in Europe.

In speaking for Mino who, he said, had made plans a year ago

9 Cent Average Raise Noted in Bargaining

Collective bargaining raises averaged 9.3 cents an hour during the first quarter of 1958 in the 206 settlements reported to the New York State Department of Labor, according to figures released today by Acting Industrial Commissioner Charles W. Halloran. Over 248,000 workers were affected by the settlements.

A general wage increase was reported in 90 per cent, and changes in fringe benefits in 73 per cent, of the agreements. Over one-third of the settlements established new, or modified existing, health and welfare plans, and one-fifth made changes in pension plans.

In the comparable quarter of 1957 the average raise in 215 settlements was 10.1 cents an hour.

for the trip, before he had any inkling that he would be a candidate for district attorney, he said he thought Mino would want to express his appreciation to St. John for his outstanding record as district attorney—a terrific record during a trying period. He would also thank the delegates for their confidence and pledge himself to wage a vigorous campaign.

Says Cook Qualified

Cook was nominated for treasurer by Charles F. Kaiser of the town of Wawarsing who pointed out that the position was an important one, involving the handling of all monies of the county—approximately $8 million annually.

He said Cook was "well fitted" for the job, that he had been prominently and successfully engaged in the insurance and real estate business for the past 25 years, was a man of personal integrity and confidence and had earned the respect of the people of the county.

In seconding the nomination, Peter Williams of the Town of Saugerties said of Cook, "he's a swell guy," that he was honest and did a job with efficiency and that he was "proud" to second the nomination.

Cook said he was very grateful to all, that he was willing to do anything he could to be elected and help elect all candidates on the ticket. He said that he hoped to continue to serve in the same creditable manner in the future.

Chipp Nominated

James Murray of the town of Wawarsing placed the name of Arthur Chipp in nomination for county coroner, a lifelong resident of the county and for 20 years a resident of the town of Wawarsing.

He pointed out that Chipp, a licensed funeral director in Kerhonkson, had served as coroner in the past for several terms, that he was experienced in the job of coroner, was a hard-working Republican, "as we know in Wawarsing" can turn out a heavy vote in Kerhonkson and is a "man who can win."

Richard Terwilliger of the town of Rochester seconded the nomination, saying that he was privileged to be able to support the nomination of a man eminently qualified for the position of coroner. He said Chipp had earned the respect and admiration of all who knew him.

Chipp said in reply that he was deeply appreciative of the honor of representing the Republican party and urged the delegates to support the campaign and vote Row A in November.

Introduces Mahoney

Sen. Bush introduced Sen. Mahoney as a "forceful, dynamic speaker," a man "young in years," a "relentless fighter" who "refuses to compromise on principle." Wilson said of Mahoney that he was a "great leader, a great Senator and, I think, he has a great future."

Moses Blames Project Troubles On Recalcitrants

NEW YORK (AP)—Robert Moses today blamed his troubles with the Tuscarora Nation on a "relatively small number of recalcitrants" among the Indians. A majority of the Tuscaroras, he said, want to take a reasonable position and authorize their leaders and their lawyers to compromise their claim against the State Power Authority.

It is the recalcitrants, Moses said, who have "stirred up some of their brothers and blocked the nation from taking this course."

The authority which Moses heads, wants to buy 1,382 acres of the Tuscarora Reservation for a storage reservoir for the Niagara power project.

The authority has upped its original offer from $1,000 an acre to $1,100.

An attorney for the Tuscarora nation has maintained that the Indians and their land are under federal protection and the land cannot be taken for the project without congressional action. The matter is locked in litigation.

In his latest criticism of the Indians, a 14-page brochure, Moses claims the land in question was not covered by any treaty.

The particular tract, he said, was purchased from previous white owners in 1804, 10 years after the last of three treaties which the Tuscaroras say, forbid the appropriation of their land by the state.

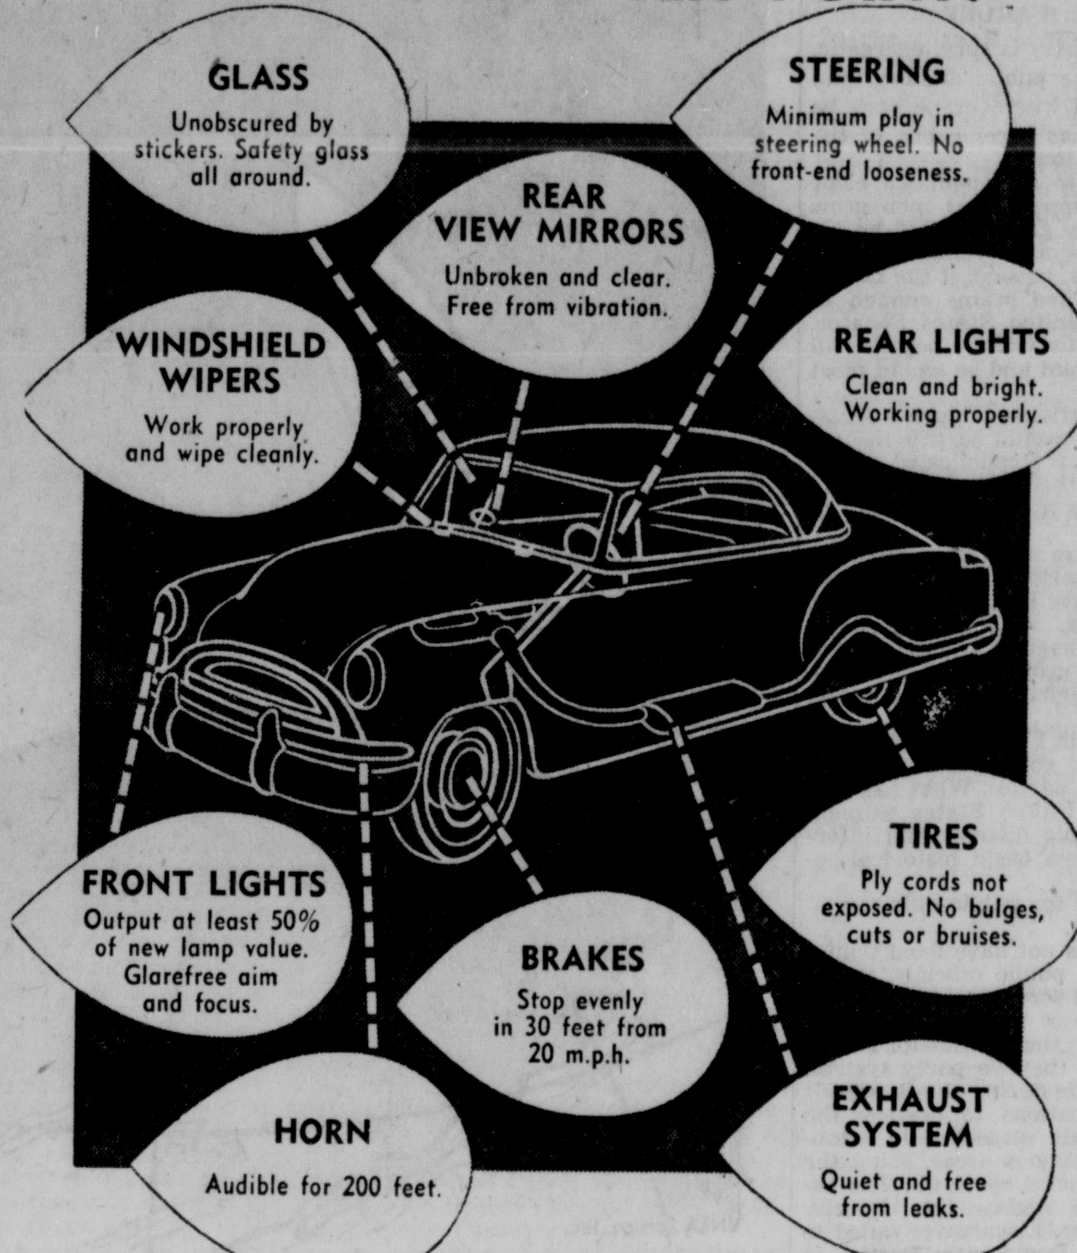

"We do not take land from Indians or white men without paying, as promptly as possible, full fair value," Moses said.

The authority, Moses said, is ready to build the Indians a community center, move houses in the way of construction if desired and make other incidental improvements.

In addition, Moses contended, only four Indian families are engaged in farming, two of them within the reservoir area. The rest of those who work, he said, are employed in the factories and commercial establishments of Niagara Falls and in construction.

Cheerful Thought

IRON RIVER, Mich. (AP)—The Junior Chamber of Commerce, trying to take the pain out of parking meters, plans to mount pots of flowers on metal arms fastened to the meters. Fresh garden flowers will be planted in the pot two or three times during the summer. In the fall and winter, the merchants will cheer motorists with artificial plants in the pots.

Contract Is Signed In Erie County Labor Walkout

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Contractors and a laborers union have signed an agreement, but other striking workers may continue to halt construction work in Erie County today.

The Laborers local and the Construction Industry Employers Assn. agreed on a contract Saturday. The pact ended a week-long strike by 3,500 laborers.

Members of three Painters locals, a Lathers local and a Roofers local are still on strike. They were expected to tighten picket lines and keep some jobs shut down. Negotiation sessions were scheduled for today.

About 25,000 men were idled last week. The strike tied up millions of dollars worth of construction jobs on the Niagara Frontier. A union spokesman said the laborers dropped demands for a seniority system under which each employee would have seniority with each contractor employing him. The contractors said the system was unworkable in the industry because many laborers work for several contractors during a year.

The spokesman said the agreement contains a general job security "arrangements" designed to assure full employment.

He said the agreement calls for the same wage pattern accepted by most other construction unions—a raise of 35 cents an hour over two years. The old contract expired May 31.

Present wage scales were not disclosed.

NEW RULES OF THE ROAD

Highway users are reminded that the new rules of the road law in New York State will be effective July 1 of this year. The new rules were adopted as part of a nationwide effort to establish similar rules of the road in every state of the union.

A move for greater safety on our streets and highways, the new rules should be a great convenience to drivers and should do much to eliminate the unwitting violations of the law which often cause serious accidents.

The new rules mark out a course of safe and efficient operation for all vehicles and also lay down ground rules for pedestrians.

Leaving keys in a car is a violation. The law states that when you leave your car unattended you must stop the motor, lock the ignition, remove the key and set the brakes. If you park on a grade, you must turn the front wheels to the curb or side of the road.

When fire occurs in a city, you must not follow closer than 200 feet any fire apparatus on its way to a fire unless you are on official business. You must not drive into or park within the block to which the apparatus has been called. Outside the cities, you must not follow fire apparatus by closer than 500 feet or drive into or park within 500 feet of the fire area. You must not drive over unprotected fire hose without consent of the fire official in command.

The new law also forbids "tailgating"—following too closely. You must never follow another vehicle more closely than is "reasonable and prudent." The Bureau recommends at least one car length for each ten miles an hour of your driving speed under normal conditions.

The new law also declares war on litterbugs. You are a violator if you throw refuse, trash, garbage or litter either on the right-of-way of a road or on adjacent lands. Fine for the first offense is up to $50.

The new rules also cover pedestrians, bicycles and animal-drawn vehicles.

A full description of the laws are carried in a 12-page booklet, which is now available at all Motor Vehicle Bureaus. You can get a copy of the booklet by calling at or writing to the Bureau.

HEAD FELT PROBLEM

Not long ago a farm weekly posed for its readers that question which seems to disturb so many people: What can be done with old felt hats, short of throwing them away? Readers on the distaff side responded with a bevy of suggestions.

One woman cuts old felt hats into such shapes as animals, flowers, and so on, sews safety pins to the bits and uses them for lapel ornaments. Another glues pieces of felt to the bottoms of objects to preserve the furniture. Old felt hats are transformed into rugs in some households; in others they become covers for chair backs and arms. One grandmother fashioned booties for the latest arrival.

It all sounds mighty ingenious. But shucks, ladies, we don't worry about what to do with our old felt hat. We just put it on and go fishin'.

FISHING FOR WHAT?

When the phrase "appearances are deceiving" was concocted, the author must have been thinking of the Russians. They have over the decades elevated deception virtually to a way of life.

A current example is the presence of a half dozen Soviet fishing boats 100 miles off the Canadian coast in international waters. On the surface, nothing striking about that, since fishing fleets of other lands commonly visit these waters.

But the Russian vessels never leave, no matter what the season, no matter whether fish are running or not. When one ship leaves to go home, another promptly takes its place.

Too bad there's no international agency with power to go aboard and inspect. Those

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY
HON. JAMES A. FARLEY

At seventy, James A. Farley is spry, energetic, aggressive. He attends more public dinners than any man in New York and wherever he goes he gets special applause. He has become one of the most liked men in the big town.

I was recently talking to a Republican elder statesman about how it happens that men grow increasingly popular as they grow old and he replied that the public recognizes common sense when it sees it. Furthermore, he said, if the Democrats in New York State had brains enough to nominate Jim Farley for United States Senator, they would win an enormous victory because all Democrats would vote for him and so would most Republicans.

I cannot appraise the statistics of such a situation but casual observation would justify the assumption that a great many Republicans, weary of the lack of leadership in their own party, would vote for James A. Farley as a personal tribute to an upright citizen.

The political parties are breaking down in many areas because as parties they stand for nothing distinctive. They have become vehicles for electing particular persons without regard to party or principles, who manage to get themselves nominated. The voters are growing weary of the same names, the attitudinizing, of the press agency and the puffings.

We have just witnessed in France, and it is being repeated in Italy, the consequences of the total breakdown of political parties. What has sustained government in the United States through the trying times of economic distress and international disturbance are two basic historical-political facts:

1. Fixed tenure in office for public officials; 2. The two party system.

While Great Britain does not have fixed tenure in office for policy-making public officials, it has developed a permanent civil service which is above party and a social system of rewards, now centered in Queen Elizabeth II, that makes for stability. Great Britain also has the two party system.

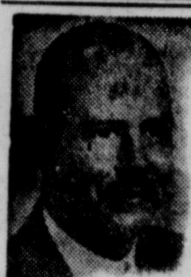

Attempts have been made during the Roosevelt and Eisenhower Administrations to destroy the two party system. Roosevelt succeeded in establishing splinter groups in various areas, using the Democratic Party as a general catch-all. The result was that during the regime, the big city bosses increased their power. Eisenhower failed to unify the Republican and Democratic Parties in his person. Whereas de Gaulle does say: "I am France," President Eisenhower cannot say, "I am the United States."

The opposition in the United States is a permanent and wholesome institution. It will probably be strengthened in the 1958 Congressional election. Thus, we come to the peculiar problem of New York State where the Republicans thus far have no acceptable candidate either for Governor or for United States Senator. By acceptable, I mean by the rank and file of the Republican Party. Whereas some Republican leaders have pledged themselves to Nelson Rockefeller as Governor, the plain voters ask: "Who is he?" "Where has he been all these years?"

These are pertinent questions because if a man is running as a member of a party, the assumption must be that he has served that party over the years, that he represents it in some manner, that he has the courage to stay with it in defeat as in victory. In a word, he belongs. Nelson Rockefeller's public career has been principally in the Roosevelt New Deal Administration with some overlay in the Truman and Eisenhower Administrations.

The Republicans in New York State have no candidate for United States Senator. They will be shopping around to discover someone to run who will find it equally advantageous to be elected or defeated. There are such candidates, but they are usually not worth much to their party or to the country. The Democrats are quarrelling over prospective candidates. It begins to look as though New York City office-holders will have to be eliminated at this time for various reasons. The up-state names suggested are utterly unknown down-state. It is a most unusual situation.

The one man who, by the turning wheel of fate, seems to be just right for the moment is James A. Farley and the mere suggestion of the possibility evokes enthusiasm in both parties. His candidacy suggests regularity and the rules of the game, virtues that have too long been ignored. (Copyright, 1958, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Snoring Is Sometimes Medically Cured; Position Change May Help

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

Four letters lie before me asking what can be done about snoring. Two of them come from persons who snore. The other two are from the spouses of snorers.

Q—Can snoring be helped in any way?—M. R.

A—Snoring is the sound or sounds made during sleep by vibrations of one or more structures in the nose or throat, resulting from the inspiration or expiration of air. Sometimes there is a physical explanation such as the presence of polyps, a deflected septum in the nose, or the like. In some cases the snoring can be eliminated or lessened by surgical removal of the polyps, by treatment of an allergy, by removal of tonsils and adenoids or by similar means.

In other cases the snoring is the result of the position of the sleeper. Usually it occurs when lying on the back. If this sleeping position can be changed, thus preventing the tongue from falling backward, the snoring may disappear. One suggestion for accomplishing this is to make back-sleeping uncomfortable by placing a small pillow under the neck.

Q—Is there a hormone taken from pregnant women which help one lose weight? I read of one named chorionic gonadotropin.—Mrs. W. L.

A—There are preparations of this kind, but I doubt that they have any value in helping one to lose weight.

Q—I should like your opinion on the use of aspirin for babies for the relief of colds, teething and the like. Could its continuous use cause any ill-effects?—Mrs. J.

A—Continuous use of any drug should be avoided. Small doses of aspirin for babies and small children often give a good deal of relief, but more than necessary is undesirable.

Aspirin poisoning is one of the most important kinds of poisoning of small children.

Q—My husband is 41, active and in good health. But when he sits down his knee joints crack quite loudly. Is this serious?—Mrs. B.

A—It probably is not serious if he has no pain, nor any other symptoms. In all likelihood this cracking sound is merely the result of snapping of the ligaments of the knee across the cartilage.

Q—My 19-year-old son is thinking of undergoing surgery on his nose. It has a slight hook which he would like corrected. I understand this operation is not only serious, but painful. Would you discuss it please?—Mrs. J. M.

A—Plastic surgery on the nose is done quite commonly and can make a remarkable difference in the appearance. Whether it is necessary for a "slight hook" or not is, however, debatable. He should consult a competent plastic surgeon and get advice as to the desirability of the operation.

Still Trying to Get a Nose Cone Through the Thick Political Atmosphere

Washington News

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — If everything goes according to well-laid plans, one dish that visiting West German President Theodor Heuss will NOT get in the U. S. is sauerkraut. The West German Embassy here was shaken when it got a query from the Detroit Athletic Club, where the President will be given a big dinner, asking if it was all right to put sauerkraut on the menu.

"Certainly not," an embassy aide snapped. "Sauerkraut is common food."

Following this long-distance call, it was decided to put out the word that sauerkraut was verboten at any meal for Heuss. The one stop in the U. S. which Heuss insisted on personally was a visit to Thomas Jefferson's home, Monticello, in Charlottesville, Va. Heuss has praised Jefferson in every book he has written and wants very much to visit Monticello on this trip.

SECRETARY OF STATE John Foster Dulles has the most enterprising butler in town. Whenever Dulles takes off on a global hop, his man Eric goes to work for a local catering service and waits on guests at diplomatic receptions.

The genial rotund butler insists that money has nothing to do with his taking the extra job. "I consider it a vacation," he explains. "Whenever the secretary is home, I have to answer the telephone. Sometimes it rings all night."

But State Department sources privately admit that the real reason for Eric's part-time job is to note what foods foreign diplomats like to eat. This information enables Dulles to serve each diplomat his favorite dish when he invites him to his home for dinner.

Twenty and Ten Years Ago

June 8, 1938—The American Legion reported a poppy day sale total of $288 for the post and its auxiliary.

Mrs. Jessie M. Short Seeger died at her Elmdorf Street home.

June 9, 1938 — Miss Doris Wren, a former Riffon girl, was a performer in the Tom Mix Circus, which played here.

Miss Marguerite Cordes retired after more than 25 years of teaching in local schools.

SOCIALITE Col. Robert Gugenheim sports a sculptured brass crow as a radiator decoration on his Cadillac limousine and gives this explanation of it:

"I call it my futuristic crow. I bought it 30 years ago in Paris from a struggling artist named Louis Wayne. Decorations for cars like this were all the rage then. I think I paid $60 or $70 for it. I've gotten kind of fond of it and put it on each new car I get. I guess it has been on 20 or 30 cars altogether."

LAST YEAR Bill and Mary Jane Fey—he's with the Sikorsky helicopter company here—organized a block party and street dance out where they live in Chevy Chase. Only trouble was the D.C. cops blocked off the wrong street, making dancing kind of hazardous. One resident of the block set up a bar on the curb, which caused a passing motorist to slam on his brakes and comment:

"Can't beat this for service. Folks, make mine a double Martini."

This year the Feys and their neighbors in the block did it again, and the cops closed off the right street. German Embassy press attache Johannes Haas-Haye, who was a guest, pronounced the affair an international social triumph when dancing finally ended at 3 a. m.

Neighbors and guests included Chinese, Indians, Egyptians, Germans, Italians and French diplomats.

DIPLOMATIC immunity may prevent an embassy chauffeur from getting a traffic ticket, but it offers no protection from the hot temper of an outraged motorist.

Other evening an embassy limousine was traveling down a busy Washington thoroughfare behind a new Chrysler convertible. Whenever the Chrysler stopped for a red light, the limousine rolled slowly forward and bumped it. After this happened the third time, the Chrysler driver jumped out of his car, jerked open the door of the limousine, punched the chauffeur in the face, got back into his car and drove away.

When police arrived and started questioning witnesses, nobody could remember the angry man's license number.

PARTY-GOERS were treated to their first outdoor cooking of the season the other afternoon at the Afghanistan embassy. The festivities, which took place in the embassy garden, were in celebration of Afghanistan's independence day.

While waiters nudged through the crowds serving champagne, a cook dished out delicious shish-kebab which he prepared on a portable aluminum stove.

Guests were so enthusiastic about the outdoor cooking that they completely overlooked a large buffet table indoors which was loaded with ham, shrimp, lobster and roast beef. Finally waiters had to transfer all the food to an outside table near the stove so that it wouldn't go to waste.

MIKE BALAZS, head chef at the Sheraton Park Hotel, is one gourmet who doesn't like his own cooking. "It's just too fancy," he privately confesses. "I'd rather eat a bologna sandwich any day."

That's exactly what his wife serves him each night when he gets home from work.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

LOS ANGELES, June 8—And so, after all these years, we met. I sat at lunch with George Stratton, on his first day in confinement in his home. Mrs. Stratton, a Texan, vivacious and beautiful, was plainly anxious for quick little warnings of overstrain. Mr. Stratton is an oil man, a pioneer producer of the big, modern passenger planes now fading into antiquity, and a survivor of strenuous business relations with Elliott Roosevelt.

In Bill Thompson's regime in Chicago, he was commissioner of police. He sold the first automobile ever sold on instalments in Chicago and was punished by the trade for that unconventional act that year and saluted by the same associates for the same innovation the next. He has been around.

George Stratton was pouring forth with lusty amusement and earthy scorn which seemed to stimulate his spirits, the story of the beautiful Arabian stallion, Hatal, a nameless Arab colt and three mares that crossed Texas, Arizona and California in a freight car during the military traffic jam of the Pacific campaign.

Elliott and Faye Emerson already had encamped in the Stratton's "other" house as their honeymoon cottage. Stratton already had staked the inveterate bridegroom to $300 for pocket-money for the wedding on the Grand Canyon at dawn. Blaze had moved in with the happy couple and so badly defiled the interior of Mrs. Stratton's personal sedan that she hosed it out as best she could and tried to forget it.

Now Elliott phoned Mr. Stratton that he needed grazing and barn-room for five horses. All three mares were with foal and all five horses were weak and scrawny. Two of the foals were born dead. "Somewhere" Mr. Stratton has a bill of sale or deed of gift from Ibn Saud to President Roosevelt, but otherwise there is no clear title to any of them. Mrs. Stratton pines for Hatal, so gentle, so personal and good, now living on Eugene Starr's place. The colt made no special impression. The mares were sold up in Oregon long ago. Hatal is still stud and his last five get have been colts. He is 18 years old.

Elliott and Faye spent eight months in the Strattons' house and Mrs. Stratton is not reticent. Faye wanted to "decorate" some rooms with a wallpaper of "plaid" design. Mrs. Stratton vetoed that, but did consent to some other novelties. When she got her house back, Blaze had committed foul excesses and the lovers, themselves, had been so indifferent to Mrs. Stratton's standards of tidiness that she was shocked and permanently estranged. Elliott also had run up a little chit of $6,600 in casual borrowings.

Nevertheless, Mr. Stratton said, Elliott came to him within three months after his father

Legal Consequences Seen From Troops at Little Rock

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—The tragedy at Little Rock may have important legal consequences that were not foreseen when Federal troops were used at Central High School there to enforce a court decree on the supposition that no other means was available.

Virgil T. Blossom, superintendent of schools at Little Rock, has just made a startling revelation in Federal court. He has testified that the school board at Little Rock asked for Federal marshals to enforce the court's decree and that the request was refused by Judge Ronald Davies. This fact has never before been publicly known.

Legality Ruling Sought

Sen. John C. Stennis, of Mississippi, Democrat, in a speech before the Mississippi Bar Association a few days ago made the point that there was no law authorizing the use of Federal troops and that United States Marshals should have been required to perform the task of enforcing the court's decree. Mr. Stennis now has written to Comptroller General Campbell asking him to look into the legality of payments made to Arkansas National Guardsmen during the period of Federal service. He asked for an independent determination as to the legality of payment of such funds, because they were originally appropriated for national defense. The Comptroller General has replied that he will investigate the matter and render a decision.

The Mississippi Senator, who is an eminent lawyer, says that none of the conditions set forth in the law which was cited in the President's proclamation really existed in Little Rock. He adds: "There was no danger of invasion or rebellion and no indication that the President was unable with the regular forces to execute the laws of the United States. Moreover, this section requires that orders to call into the Federal service members of the National Guard shall be issued through the Governors of the states. No order of this type was issued by the Governor of Arkansas as required. Hence, the conclusion is inescapable that the calling into Federal service of the National Guard of the State of Arkansas was unauthorized and contrary to statutory requirements."

Called Unauthorized

On the specific use of even Federal troops—not necessarily the state's National Guard—Sen. Stennis says that the resort to military force was unauthorized by law or the Constitution. He says: "There was no real attempt to try civil remedies—much less exhaust them. There was no real effort to enforce the court decree by using the United States Marshal's office or by augmenting his staff through a posse comitatus."

"There was no real attempt to try the injunctive process with its ever-present threat of condemnation."

The Federal laws today specifically forbid the use of the armed forces of the United States to enforce court orders. This is the task of U. S. Marshals. If they fail, they can in some instances call on military forces to help them, but this is limited to "laws of the United States" and is not applicable to the enforcement of all court orders. The use of Federal troops to enforce a court order that did not involve any Federal law, especially when the U. S. Marshals were not available, makes the Little Rock precedent unique in all history, and its legality or illegality has yet to be determined. (Reproduction Rights Reserved)

The mystery is: Why did Judge Davies refuse to assign U. S. Marshals? In many an instance of civil disturbance in past history thousands of Assistant Marshals have been deputized to maintain order. This is usually effective because it is a Federal offense for any citizen to interfere with a U. S. Marshal who is carrying out the orders of a Federal Court.

Traffic Rules in Effect July 1 Curb Carelessness

By CHARLES DUMAS

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Every motorist knows the driver who swings open the door of his parked car — just as another car goes gliding by.

He's related to the pest who hugs your back bumper through street and highway. Probably kin to the character (car thief's best friend) who leaves his keys in the ignition.

Effective July 1, these fellows will be risking brushes with the police in New York State.

Subject to Fine, Jail

Their careless ways will become traffic infractions on that date, when the state's new "Rules of the Road" law goes into effect. Each bender could mean a $50 fine, plus 15 days in jail.

The law was adopted by the Legislature and approved by Gov. Harriman as part of a nationwide effort to make traffic rules uniform in all 48 states.

It wraps up nearly all of the present scattered rules, changes a few and adds some new touches—all in one package.

The 1958 Legislature embellished the uniform law with two touches of its own, effective the same day.

Mirror Dangler Out

One is an anti-litterbug law. It could cost you $50 to toss refuse or waste paper out of your car.

The other bans those baby booties, out-sized dice and other paraphernalia you see hanging from rear-view mirrors. Same penalty: $50.

Either violation also could bring a 15-day jail term in addition to the fine.

The Rules of the Road law itself makes relatively few changes, but most of them are notable.

For example, it authorizes use of a "Yield Right of Way" sign for the first time in New York. The sign is shaped like a key-stone. It has almost the same effect as a "Stop" sign except that you don't have to come to a full stop if you can see it's safe to proceed.

Rule on Parkers

The law also authorized the white-on-red color scheme for both "Yield" and "Stop" signs. This combination, replacing black on yellow, was introduced a couple of years ago. As old signs are replaced gradually the new combination will be used.

One of the new rules will be out news to the illegal parker. Under current law, he sometimes can claim he's not actually parked as long as he's sitting in his car. The new law says that you are parked regardless — and eligible for a ticket.

This rule, however, can be superseded by local ordinance. Generally, the law will allow local governments to change rules on use of traffic control signs and signals and on parking, in order to fit local situations.

But there can be no changing the rule on opening car doors. The law says a parker may not open doors on the side of moving traffic unless it is "reasonably safe" to do so.

It will be up to police to decide whether it is safe. No changes are permitted either in the rules on "tailgating"—following too closely — or on leaving keys in the car.

The tailgating rule forbids drivers to follow any closer than is "reasonably prudent" considering speed, traffic and road conditions.

Again, it's a matter of discretion. The Motor Vehicle Bureau recommends leaving at least one car length of space for each 10 miles an hour of driving speed under normal conditions.

The ignition key rule is part of a general section on unattended cars. The law says you must stop the motor, lock the ignition, remove the key and set the brakes.

As separate laws, the litterbugging and baby-booty statutes also allow no exceptions. The latter bans any decoration on the rear view mirror or atop the instrument panel that will obstruct vision.

There is some question, however, about ornaments such as religious statuettes that many motorists mount on the instrument panel. The bureau says they are out if they are large enough to obstruct vision. It will be a matter of police judgment.

The Rules of the Road affect pedestrians and cyclists, as well as motorists.

One thing new ones says bicyclists must keep at least one hand on the bars.

Better tell junior to forget that "Look, Ma — no hands!" routine.

Plunket Summer Home Is Badly Damaged by Fire

The summer home of James C. Plunket, Kingston attorney, located at Binnewater was badly damaged by fire about 10 p. m. Friday.

Four fire companies fought the blaze which did extensive damage to the upper portion of the two-level house located on the hill across the tracks from the old Binnewater railroad station.

The two-story frame house was unoccupied at the time and the cause of the blaze was undetermined.

Plunket estimated the loss at $12,000 and said the upper portion of the house was practically destroyed and the lower portion very badly damaged. He said no one from his family had been at the premises for the past three or four days.

A neighbor who discovered the fire summoned the Binnewater Fire Company and assistance was sought from Cottickill, Rosendale and Tilton departments. Through use of tank trucks water was brought to the scene. Plunket, who was at home in Kingston, was notified and went to the scene. He praised the work of the firemen in preventing total destruction of the premises.

Eyskens to Form New Belgium Regime

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Former Prime Minister Gaston Eyskens set out today to form a new government dominated by the Social Christian party, which made large gains in elections a week ago.

King Baudouin designated Eyskens after the defeat of the Socialist-Liberal coalition government.

The Social Christians won a majority in the 175-member Senate in the June 1 balloting, but failed to win control of the House of Representatives. If the party fails to gain control of the House through a coalition, new elections might be called.

Rockefeller Is

appeal of potential nominees. I shall continue to do this. The purpose is for the guidance of party leaders and of the delegates to the convention who will, of course, make the final decision."

Hall, the only announced candidate for the GOP nomination, spoke to GOP women at Auburn Saturday night. He came away with the endorsement of Robert E. White of Auburn, chairman of the Cayuga County GOP committee, and veteran congressman John Taber, a power in the area.

Cayuga County will send eight delegates to the August convention in Rochester.

If Cayuga follows White's lead, Hall would have as many as 146 delegates to claim. He needs 586. Mahoney can claim 132, Rockefeller 83.

In Onondaga County, the Lake Shore Republican Club passed a resolution urging chairman George Traister to throw the county's 39 votes to Hall.

Rockefeller remained silent over the weekend. He addressed the graduating class of Buffalo State Teachers College Sunday but avoided any mention of politics.

Mahoney spoke in Kingston Saturday at a meeting of the Ulster County GOP. The county chairman is supporting the senator.

Three sections of main, each 12,000 feet long, between Sawkill and Manor Avenue, will be cleaned starting tomorrow and continuing through Thursday.

The work, to be done by the National Water Main Cleaning Co., under direction of Bogert & Childs, the department's consulting engineers, will improve the carrying capacity of the conduits. The mains were last cleaned in 1956.

The cleaning of 15,000 feet of main between Cooper Lake and the filter plant in the Zena area will start June 17. Water department personnel will be used on both projects.

Work was recently completed on the Manor Avenue vaults, and the street was expected to be opened to traffic late today.

Catskill state police reported that she was riding in a car operated by Clarence Roberts, 19, of Coxsack, proceeding north on the Palenville-Saugerties road, when the car went off the right side of the road, into a ditch, then swung back across the highway and smashed into a building.

It was reported that the vehicle continued for more than 400 feet after it first left the highway.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market drifted aimlessly early this afternoon in moderately active trading.

Prices were mixed with a slight tendency toward the downside. Most leading stocks were either unchanged or showed fractional changes. A few moved around a point either way.

Having gone to repeated new highs for the year last week the market appeared to be consolidating its gains, brokers said. Some profit taking was apparent.

Scott Given 90 Days for Cutting Friend After Drink

Randall Scott, 45, of 17 West Strand, was sentenced by Judge Aaron E. Klein today to 90 days in jail on a third degree assault charge.

It was alleged that Scott had cut Dallas Walker, of East Strand when the two argued after drinking a bottle of wine in the downtown area.

Testimony today indicated that the two had been friends of long standing. Scott was originally booked on a second degree assault count, but a plea to the lesser charge was found acceptable to John E. Gotelli of the district attorney's office, who said he considered their past friendship and the fact that trouble started between them after they had been drinking.

Walker suffered a knife cut on the neck. The arrest was by Officer Peter Camp June 3.

Case Postponed

The case of James Cassell, who, police said, has no home, and who was arrested Sunday night on a disorderly conduct charge, was put over to Tuesday night to permit him time to obtain counsel.

The arrest followed a complaint by three boys that he had molested them and "wanted them to steal liquor." Officers Leonard Ellsworth and George Deyo were dispatched to Greenkill Avenue, and asked for help when it was found that the man attempted to get away. He was caught by Officer Edward Edwards on Field Court, and arrested by Officer Deyo. The boys first reported to Officer James Amato that they had been molested by Cassell.

LeRoy Brown, 37, of 43 Sycamore Street, arrested on a disorderly conduct charge by Officer Louis Sapp, after a reported fight downtown early Sunday was sentenced to pay a fine of $10 or spend 10 days in jail. The fine was paid.

Three summonses were issued over the weekend to drivers charged with passing red lights and another charged with speeding. Due for Tuesday night appearance on red light charges are: Lewis Daniel Black, 226 Lucas Avenue; Edward Leo Smedman, 62 Grant Street, and Yolanda Turk, of Albany. Salvatore Romano, of 136 Clifton Avenue, was charged with speeding on Ten Broeck Avenue this morning.

ECONOMIC BLUEPRINT

Are sound common stock prices too high?

On a long term basis, no. They may go down a little from present levels but that should not perturb investors who are looking for dependable income and growth.

The American Management Association recently held a week-long conference in New York City. Some 1,500 business leaders attended the sessions. Prophetic addresses were featured. And the highlight of them all was the message given by the United States Government's Secretary of Commerce.

The Secretary handed out a blueprint of economic America for the decade ahead based on studies made in his department. Nothing more challenging to investors has been said in many years than his optimistic statement.

In 1958, there are 173,000,000 people living in America. In 1968, he predicts the total population here will be over 205,000,000.

The 66,000,000 persons gainfully employed in the country today will reach 80,000,000 in ten years.

The number of households will increase to 60,000,000 from the present 50,000,000. Personal income will grow from the 1958 level of about $345,000,000,000 to $475,000,000,000.

Gross national product, now at $415 billion, will be around $600 billion in 1968!

Who will share in this great growth? The answer is stockholders—those people who save money and put at least 50 per cent of their savings in sound common stocks.

1958 should be a year when every investor should say to himself: "I must buy some shares of leading corporations in order to grow with economic America in the decade ahead."

Banks and trust companies will grow tremendously. After World War I, when I went to work in Wall Street for a leading institution, it had resources of around $500,000,000. Today it is six times as big. As a result, the shares I bought when I was an employee there have increased greatly in value.

Ike, Macmillan Meet This Week

DeGaulle, Khrushchev Will Figure Prominently in Talks

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — When President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Macmillan get together here this week they'll be talking about a couple of other fellows: French Premier de Gaulle and Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

Although Khrushchev wants a summit conference, it wouldn't be much without De Gaulle. Since he's been in power only a week and has plenty of troubles at home, it isn't certain De Gaulle could attend or would want to.

And he might be unpredictable if he got there. Needing all the French unity and respect he can get, he couldn't afford any sign of me-tooism. The French might take it for weakness.

More at Stake
But Eisenhower and Macmillan have more at stake in De Gaulle than a summit meeting. All North Africa may turn against the West unless he produces an Algerian solution which both the French and the Moslem nationalists can accept.

There's something else for Eisenhower and Macmillan to think about, even though the feeling in Washington at the moment seems to be that De Gaulle will keep France glued to its Western alliances.

If he begins to lose strength in France, there's no telling what retreats or concessions he may make to France's conglomerate of political parties to save something of his plans and his prestige.

Hospitality Growing
No doubt Eisenhower and Macmillan will look relaxed when they pose for pictures at the White House. But there isn't much for them to be relaxed about.

There's the growing hostility to the West in the Middle East. The riots in Lebanon are an example. And crafty Khrushchev is a pretty puzzle all by himself.

He's doing trade and aid with the backward countries to get a Soviet foothold. And now he wants more trade with the West — particularly the United States — for another reason: to build up Soviet industry.

Macmillan and the British want more Soviet trade. But so far the official reaction in Washington has been pretty negative.

Two things would strengthen Khrushchev's grip at home: disarmament or more machinery, either of which would enable him to provide more consumer goods. It's doubtful he wants disarmament, since it would be tougher to keep the satellites in line or pressure the Soviet neighbors. So his best bet for more consumer goods seems to be more trade.

Economic Reasons
It's equally doubtful this country could afford — for military and economic reasons — to reach any real disarmament agreement either. For two reasons:

1. Any weakening of Western military strength would let the Soviets increase their pressure, internal and external, on those around them.

2. With this country putting around 40 billion dollars into defense — and still unable to wipe out the recession — it doesn't take much imagination to see what a big cut in defense spending would do here.

Nevertheless, Eisenhower, Macmillan and Khrushchev have to spend a lot of time talking disarmament.

If they ever do get to the summit, the most that seems likely to come of it is some lessening of tensions but no major solutions.

He attended school in New Paltz prior to his enlistment in the Marine Corps, and has several brothers who have served and are serving in the Marine Corps.

Hand-to-Mouth Era

By FRANK TRIPP

There was a time when recessions were avoided and depressions materially softened by the confidence that existed between workers and employers.

It was before the days of government interference in the affairs of both; days of industrial understanding, when more employers and employees were townsmen, neighbors, often intimate friends; but alas!

There has developed a senseless barrier between men whose interests are identical; groups called "management" and "labor"—both just workers, equally dependent upon the survival and solvency of the industry that feeds them.

And there has developed a tax burden upon industry that would hamstring these bickering factions, even should they try to revert to the simple solution of a less belligerent era.

FOR EXAMPLE:

Exhibit A is four consecutive agreements between a company and its local employees.

Written in pencil on a sheet of newspaper paper 40 years ago, as a man-to-man aside to a wordy union contract appears:

"There shall be no reduction of regular situations and no layoffs for same, for the duration of this agreement."

As simple as that. No technical wet-blanket even bothered to ask "what if the plant burns down?"

Job security with a solvent company was the workers' major concern those days. Pay envelopes held 100 cent dollars, no deductions, no exorbitant taxes. Both company and worker could build hard times cash backlogs in their prosperous years.

THE BASIC objective of the worker was a secure place to work; that of the employer to stabilize his business and keep men working. Community prosperity was as important to the boss as jobs were to his help. People were not cards tucked into a Univac.

You'll say, "That was a pretty good hedge against local recessions which breed nationwide depressions; how come it isn't done now?" It's a good question.

First, few employers can deal with their own people any more. They deal with a rigid national formula that levels all workers, standardizes crafts, hours, wages, conditions, production, feather-bedding, and takes a sock at everything around the place. So the boys have their own Univac.

THE VACUUM cleaner that outwits the whole tribe of Univacs is the federal tax law. Exhibit A today would be a ten-to-one gamble on an empty Mother Hubbard cupboard.

After current law has already taken over half of a company's profits in taxes, it says how much of the remainder may be kept in a kitty to do just such things as keeping plants running in dull times, men at work to stabilize buying power and the economy less vulnerable to depressions.

Company earnings that could be reserved to do these things at far less cost to industry and stockholders, must be paid out in dividends in the year they are earned; so the government can collect the higher bracket taxes on them.

What is left often wouldn't operate a most prosperous company for two months. Even the squirrels do better than that. We are living in a hand-to-mouth economy.

Thus vanishes, via Washington, the kitty that guaranteed Exhibit A 40 years ago. Does that answer your question?

WHEN SANE men follow demagogues, gripe, resist and threaten against tax relief for industry, they are consigning money that they help earn, and seek to share, to overseas and into political rat-holes of waste and extravagance.

Even they cheer and vote for birds who would save them perhaps a measly $40 in taxes—to "buy out" of a multi-billion dollar depression—a come-on to wheedle votes. It would be a laugh, were it not so tragic. Barnum was a piker.

But I'm not an economist. I'm only a guy who believes that the squirrels have the real answer to depressions.

Something saved from times of plenty—and a tax-free right to save it.

Marine Corps Has Officer Training Course for Women

Women college graduates may apply for officer training in the U. S. Marine Corps until June 15, according to T/Sgt. W. L. Stowell, local Marine Corps recruiter.

The previous deadline for applications was June 1. The two week extension was added to permit June college graduates to apply for the course that will be conducted this summer at Quantico, Va.

A unique feature of the course is that attendance is on a conditional basis. Trainees may elect to withdraw without obligation to the Marine Corps, if the 12-week orientation fails to satisfy them, Sgt. Stowell pointed out.

Sgt. Stowell said that women officers fill executive positions in the Marine Corps, primarily in personnel management. The Quantico course prepares the women for their duties and gives them an orientation on the organization and functions of the Marine Corps.

Information about the woman officer training is available at the Marine Corps Recruiting Station, Saugerties. Interested college graduates may phone or visit Sgt. Stowell there, or may write directly to the area selection officer, Captain Mary Sue Mock, USMC, First Marine Corps Reserve and Recruitment District Garden City, L. I.

Health for All

Why Do They Leave?

With all improvements in the treatment of tuberculosis, many patients leave the hospital before the doctor says it's safe to go. Why do they leave?

The trouble is that a TB patient is more than "a case of TB." The disease may be in his right lung, but you can't treat the lung apart from the whole human being. The patient who goes to the hospital takes his personal problems with him. Sometimes they seem so pressing that he feels he can't stay in the hospital.

It's not difficult to imagine what these problems might be. What would you worry about if you were told you had to go to a hospital for an indefinite period with a disease as serious as TB? Job? Marital problems? What the neighbors will think? Some worry about being permanently disabled and some fear death, even though most cases today can be successfully cured. The boredom of resting in bed, hospital rules and regulations, a roommate who snores—these too, can add to the difficulties of adjustment.

Patients need help to accept treatment, carry it through, return to a useful life, and stay well. Obviously, there's no simple formula for successful rehabilitation. Many professional services are needed. Doctors, nurses, social workers, occupational therapists, vocational counselors, teachers, psychiatrists and others should be part of the team.

How about your TB hospital, your community? Are rehabilitation services available to people who have TB and other chronic diseases? Perhaps you don't need them now—but some day you might. Call your TB association and find out if you can help strengthen your community's resources.

$3,000 Missing After Man Takes Look at Directory

TROY, N. Y. (AP)—The slender, neatly dressed young man strolled into the camera store and asked a busy clerk if he could look at a telephone book. Sure, she said. The man looked, politely thanked the clerk and walked out.

With him went $3,000 from the store's unlocked safe in the room where the book was kept, Dexter Groesbeck, an owner of the store, discovered Saturday, two hours after the polite thief had left. Police still sought him today.

Catholic Bishop Warns Against Beauty Contests

PLATTSBURGH, N. Y. (AP)—Stay away from beauty contests, Roman Catholics in the Ogdensburg Diocese have been told.

"The tradition of modesty and good taste of our North Country is being increasingly violated by so-called beauty contests," the Most Rev. James N. Navagh declared.

The bishop's instructions were contained in letters read at Mass in churches throughout the diocese Sunday.

Contestants, parents of participating minors and anyone promoting beauty contests will be denied sacraments of the church until reparations are made, Bishop Navagh warned.

Those who attend such competitions will be guilty of mortal sin, he said.

A beauty contest is planned in connection with Jubilee Day June 27-28 at Plattsburgh Air Force Base. The bishop's letter did not refer to it, however.

Cornell Receives $150,000 to Aid Nuclear Study

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cornell University has been granted $150,000 by the Atomic Energy Commission to expand its facilities for training nuclear scientists and engineers.

Forty-one colleges and universities will share $1,900,321 in grants for such work, the AEC announced Saturday.

Other New York schools included are: University of Buffalo, $33,642; Manhattan College, $5,687; City College of New York, $18,785; and University of Rochester, $33,186.

Cornell and three other schools received the top grant of $150,000. The others were Iowa State College, Stanford University and Worcester Polytechnic Institute. The money also provides for installation of small teaching reactors at Cornell and five other institutions.

Death Rides Highways

CHICAGO (AP)—According to records of the National Safety Council, motor vehicle accidents in the last decade reached the unbelievable total of 91,050,000. These accidents caused 357,805 deaths, disabled 12,550,000 and injured and caused an economic loss of nearly 37 billion dollars. During this time, federal, state and local governments have spent $58 billion to build safer roads and streets.

Ruth Millett Go It Alone if Selfish Hubby Won't Take You Out

"What can a wife do if her husband never takes her anywhere—not even to a movie?" a reader of this column wants to know. In that case her choices are pretty limited. She can stay at home all her life. Or she can go out alone or with women friends, just as though she didn't have a husband.

Some women choose the first way and some the second—depending on whether or not they are dependent or resourceful.

If you are fed up with staying at home and not afraid to risk your husband's displeasure, why not start planning a little social life of your own?

Invite a friend to go with you to a movie, play, concert or wherever you want to go. If your husband objects, tell him you knew he wouldn't be interested but that you were, and so you arranged to go with a friend so he wouldn't have to take you.

Maybe that will suit him fine. If so, you can go on and lead your own social life. If not, maybe your husband will realize that he is also faced with two choices—whether to have you go off and leave him when you want to go somewhere, or to go along with you. Either way, you haven't anything to lose by being independent enough to strike out on your own. A husband who refuses to take his wife anywhere is being completely selfish. So his wife has a perfect right to start thinking of herself.

You can't combat another's selfishness with words or by feeling sorry for yourself. The only way to combat it is to start putting yourself first part of the time so that the other person's selfishness hurts you as little as possible.

Too Much Talk Sets Joe Four

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Hard Luck Joe had no good reason for his two club bid. His partner had passed and he wasn't going to get anywhere in clubs. Also, he might be warning the opponents away from an impossible no-trump game contract.

Joe was punished rather severely for his bid.

West doubled and opened the nine of spades. Dummy played the ten. East won with the jack and led the jack of hearts. West took Joe's king with the ace and cashed the queen of hearts. A second spade lead was won by East's queen and East shifted to the king of diamonds. West allowed it to hold the trick and East continued with the queen. Then East took his ten of hearts.

At this point in the proceedings, Joe had lost seven tricks and was down to his six trumps. Now East led the ace of spades and Joe ruffed with the eight. West overruffed with the nine and led the thirteenth heart. East stuck in his ten of trumps and Joe overruffed with the queen.

West still had to make his jack of trumps so Joe was down 1100.

Of course East and West had a game, but they might not even have reached it if Joe had stayed out of the bidding.

A Line of Emergencies

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Manager J. R. Michels of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co. complains too many persons falsely label their calls emergencies just to get the line quickly. A check of 3,020 "emergency" calls showed that only 373 involved real emergencies, Michels said. Among the worst offenders, Michels added, are teen-agers who place emergency calls to say, "Come on over, we're playing records."

The New York State Thruway is the longest toll highway in the country.

Census Is Planned Of Stockholding Public

CANTON, N. Y. (AP)—The New York Stock Exchange will embark next year on a massive census of stockholders, designed to obtain a new portrait of the American stockholder.

G. Keith Funston, president of the Exchange, said in a commencement address at St. Lawrence University Sunday that the project would cover 5,000 corporations and 8,000 stock issues.

He said the census would show the composition and geographic spread of the stockholding public, their ages, occupations, income level and education.

Previous surveys had dealt only with the growth in the number of stockholders, Funston said.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—If what's going on these days in the stock market confuses you, some of it could be because of the terms that are used.

For the person who never bought a share of stock, or who bought one once and still has burnt fingers, the every day talk on Wall Street can be rough to follow.

Explains Ups, Downs

Technical position, for example, is a phrase favored to explain why the market goes up or down, when you can't think of any other way to explain it.

According to a glossary of terms put out by the New York Stock Exchange, it means: "various internal factors affecting the market; opposed to external forces such as earnings, dividends, political considerations and general economic conditions. Internal factors include the size of the short interest, whether the market has had a sustained advance or decline."

And that brings us to short interest and short covering, currently said to be a major help to the bulls, although it's the bears who sell short. So what are bears and bulls and short sales?

Other Terms

Bulls think the market is going up and are inclined to buy. Bears think it's going down and are likely to sell if they have the stock, or sell short if they don't. In these short sales they contract to sell stocks they don't own because they think they can buy them cheaper later on for delivery. Short covering is when these bears buy stock to complete the transaction. This can either be profit taking, if the price has gone down since the short sale, or loss cutting, if it has gone up—as if often does.

Selective strength is when only a few stocks look good to investors and they select them to buy. They do that all the time anyway. But when a lot of stocks look good that's a bull market. And when only a handful do, that gives the market selective strength.

Added Advantage

Switching is when the other fellow's stock looks better than yours so you sell and buy the kind he has. This has the added advantage of creating commissions for the brokers who handle the deals. Pivotal issues are the bellwethers in the stock market. Usually they are blue chips. The exchange defines a blue chip as "common stock in a company known nationally for the quality and wide acceptance of its products or services, and for its ability to make money and pay dividends in good times and bad."

But penny stock speculation has its followers, too, and sometimes they outnumber the blue chip investors, as they did a short time back.

Penny Stocks Risky

In speculation the safety of the money put up for the stock is a secondary factor to the hope of big gain through a rise in its market price. Penny stocks are low priced, often risky, and usually selling for less than $1.

Inflation hedging in common stocks means that when inflation hits, the price of most things goes up, including common stocks and often the amount of their dividends. But the interest paid out on bonds and preferred stocks, along with pension and like payments, stays put. So common stocks are popular as a way to beat the game.

Trading on a when issued basis means beating the gun. If a company is going to issue stock or the U. S. Treasury put out a bond, even before its off the printing press those who think they are getting some can set a price at which they would sell. And those who think the price shortly will go either higher or lower than that officially listed can set a price at which they would buy. If they can get together there's a when issued transaction—then they just wait till the issue appears to see which was right.

Initial donations were made by James Fitzpatrick, a former employee who has entered military service, and Henry Shoub, of the engineering department, both of whom transferred blood from their own personal reserve funds to the Telco blood bank. The committee which organized the blood bank includes Paul Jones, chairman; Marion Tongue, Evelyn Wilkesmann, Beverly Reese, Jane Stenson, George Warringer and Clifford Donohue. (Pennington photo).

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

That professional street beggars say fat ladies give more generously than slender ones because they are more sentimental.

That half the world's population doesn't wear shoes and half has virtually no foot ailments.

That the Eskimos go in for the most advanced type of housing—waterproof igloos made of plastic foam.

Newspaper Preference

That a survey of young housewives found that 92 per cent wanted ads in their newspapers, but 62 per cent would prefer TV without commercials.

That malaria, one of earth's greatest disease scourges, is rapidly being wiped out in the United States. Not a single case of locally acquired malaria has been reported here in the last three years. A decade ago 40,000 new cases were reported annually.

That one of the best ways to cut down evaporation from your storage tank is to paint it a light color—that is, if it is exposed to the sun.

That Catherine the Great of Russia regretted all her life she hadn't been born a man. On royal hunts she insisted on wearing men's clothing.

Feared Storms

That Tchaikowsky, the Russian composer, was so terrified by electrical storms he would hide from them like a child. While conducting he always supported his chin in his left hand because of a morbid fear his head would literally fall off his shoulders into the orchestra pit.

That many drug stores, in addition to aspirin and insect lotions, also will sell you a short-term life insurance policy to cover you during your vacation.

That national defense costs the United States about $15,000 a minute.

Distaff Disagreement

That a poll showed 62 per cent of American men believe men are more moderate in their habits than women. Only 45 per cent of the women agreed!

That some humming birds

weigh less than a penny.

That during prohibition New York City had more speakeasies than it had saloons in the days before Volstead put the cork in the bottle.

That in the time it takes you to read this piece, 25 babies will be born in America (unless you read with your lips, in which case the figure may be 50).

Name Is Misfit

That Inch Avenue in Parsons, Kan., is one block long.

That a good safety rule to remember on Independence Day is: "He who goes forth with a fifth on the Fourth may not come forth on the fifth."

That your chances of getting a heart attack are increased by about 50 per cent if you are considerably overweight and by 70 per cent if you suffer from chronic hypertension. So slow down now.

That if you've been wondering about the big influx of foreign movie stars to this country, here is the reason: They spell box office in the lands of their birth. Half of Hollywood's revenue today is from the foreign market.

That cockroaches migrate just like birds, but the rascals do it in stealthy night marches.

That psychiatrists rate Nero a psychopath, Cesare Borgia a paranoiac, but classify Genghis Khan as a true genius.

That it was Kin Hubbard who observed: "Being optimistic after you've got what you want don't count."

Drum Corps Will Entertain Before Fireworks Display

Two drum corps will entertain with exhibitions and drills prior to the fireworks display at Dietz Stadium on Friday, July 4. The Colonial Cadets of Port Ewen and the Veterans of Foreign Wars Drum Corps have been engaged for the event, it was announced Friday.

Again this year the fireworks and entertainment program will be sponsored by the Uniformed Firemen's Association of the Kingston Paid Department.

Conrad Remus has been named chairman of the program committee. The program book put out for the July 4 event will contain all the fire alarm box numbers in the center fold of the program.

Francis Coughlin has been named chairman of the ticket committee and Robert Maines, publicity chairman.

In charge of the fireworks display, which will be put on by the Amsterdam Fireworks Company, is Deputy Chief George Matthews, Captain Edwin Murphy and Fireman Francis Coughlin.

Sponsored by the Uniformed Firemen's Association, the July 4 fireworks display last year drew a large audience to Dietz Stadium. Again this year the children from the Children's Home and other children's homes of the area will be guests of the firemen, Albert Hutton Sr., president of the Association said.

Unit Chairmen Meet

The Ulster County Extension Service Home Demonstration Department held a meeting of the Council of Unit Chairmen and Vice-Chairmen on Tuesday, June 3 at Walker Valley Fire Hall. Eighty-three unit and executive committee representatives were present.

Mrs. Donald Luce of Kingston, chairman of the Council for the 1957-1958 program year presided. The purpose of the meeting was to clear up all the questions regarding the county program, in order that unit programs can be turned in to the office by June 15 for mimeographing.

Mrs. Carl Dedy, executive committee member and vice-chairman of the Council, introduced unit sponsors and outlined the plan for receiving proposed unit programs.

Mrs. William McNamee, County Chairman, on behalf of the executive committee and the agent, thanked the unit chairmen for their cooperation during the past year.

Mrs. Thomas Goodman of Kingston, executive committee member and chairman of its subcommittee on administration, summarized all the pointers that require consideration if the success of each unit meeting is to be insured.

Mrs. Douglas Masterson, executive committee member and County Chairman of Membership, reported a total of 1740 paid members up to June 1, 1958. The collection of 1959 memberships begins in June and Mrs. Masterson asked vice-chairmen to try to get in the bulk of the memberships by October 1st. By so doing new members begin receiving the monthly newsletter at once.

Display Windows

Miss Everice Parsons, county home demonstration agent, reported 35 units had displays in store windows or held open house in celebration of National Home Demonstration Week. She praised the vice-chairmen who were responsible for these displays as well as those shown at the district achievement days for the interesting and attractive arrangements and for the high standard of workmanship.

She pointed out that this was one way members and administrative groups could fulfill the responsibility of informing the public and providing the evidence of the results of this publicly supported program.

The success of the five district achievement days was evident first of all because, in spite of the fact that four were held during the rainy period, they drew a total attendance of 725. The programs were stimulating and varied, according to Miss Parsons. Unit chairmen and vice-chairmen, interested in plans for next year, elected district chairmen and set the dates for these regional meetings in May 1959.

Council Officers

Officers of the Council were elected for the 1958-59 program year. Mrs. Emil Himmelsbach of Kingston will replace Mrs. Luce as chairman; Mrs. Charles Kenny of Walker Valley will replace Mrs. Dedy as vice-chairman and Mrs. DeForest Wiles will replace Mrs. Miller as Secretary.

The recreation of the day was provided by Mrs. Harold Francis of Hurley Heights who, with Mrs. Luce, sang a song she composed called the "Home Extension Song." Mrs. Roy Upright joined in the singing of what appears to be a popular song for Extensioners.

A delicious luncheon was served by Mrs. Roy Upright, chairman, and other members of the Walker Valley unit.

Assistance With Private Housing

This week Miss Ruby Loper, architect and housing specialist from the New York State College of Home Economics at Ithaca, N. Y., helped the following with plans for building new homes or remodeling present structures: Mrs. William Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Dittmar, Mrs.

Frank Lynch, Mrs. Donald Sprague, Mrs. Arthur Schoenberg, Mrs. Philip Korn, Mr. and Mrs. John Kaufman, Mrs. William Glass and Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Narel.

Miss Loper and Miss Everice Parsons, county home demonstration agent, accompanied by Miss Dorothy Proud, specialist in institution management, met Tuesday evening, June 3, with a committee selected by Lake Katrine Grange to plan for remodeling the kitchen in the Grange Hall. Those present were: Mrs. Carl Wille and Mrs. William Hooke, co-chairman, William Hooke, Mr. and Mrs. James Gaddis, Mrs. William Menger, Mrs. Dan Morehouse and Mrs. Pratt Boice.

Wednesday evening, June 4, a similar meeting was held at the Patroon Grange Hall in Accord. Those in attendance were Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Rathburn, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Crossman, George DePew, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Kelder and Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Quirk.

Food on the Market

Stocks of canned, single strength (natural strength) orange, grapefruit and blended juices are 15 to 22 per cent less than a year ago. With lower supplies, prices will strengthen throughout the summer and fall. Frozen orange concentrate supplies are likely to continue smaller than last year.

Some canned juices must meet federal standards when shipped interstate, according to the Food and Drug Administration. Prune, tomato, and pineapple juice must be prepared and packed according to prescribed methods. Pineapple and tomato juice must be made from mature fruits without the addition of water. Prune juice must be labeled "a water extract of dried prunes." Whether these juices are sweetened or unsweetened must be stated on the label.

Similar standards are in the offing and if passed will be "musts" for canned orange juice, chilled orange juice, and frozen lemonade concentrates.

Broilers remain an outstanding choice among meats with supplies moderately larger than last year. Prices are only slightly higher than last year whereas most beef, pork, and lamb have advanced considerably. Ham (ready-to-eat) is selling for less than the March-April high and will be featured in many stores. Eggs, both large and medium edged off in price in the past two weeks. This decline will be temporary, as eggs are expected to rise seasonably during the summer months.

Numerous vegetables are plentiful at reasonable prices. Asparagus, beets, lettuce and radishes have recently worked lower. Shipments of sweet corn from Florida continue, with the quality excellent.

Strawberry shipments are increasing, and prices will likely be lower next month. Supplies of frozen blackberries, blueberries, raspberries and cherries are greater than last year, and this could lead to somewhat lower prices in the future.

In the early days of China's tea trade, merchants added camellia petals to enhance the tea's flavor.

A STRANGER AT A COCKTAIL PARTY

Dear Mrs. Post: What is the proper behavior for a guest who finds herself a stranger at a large party? I was invited to a semi-business cocktail party last week and found that I knew no one at the party but the hostess. I felt very unnecessary and after about fifteen minutes I left. I would like to know if it would have been proper for me to go up to other guests without being introduced, and start a conversation.

Answer: You can't very well walk up to two strangers who are talking together unless they speak directly to you. But you can quite properly start a conversation with either a man or woman who is seated, or standing, next to you. You must not, however, let it run on without response from your listener.

Finecky Eater

Dear Mrs. Post: I suppose I am a very fussy eater, but I find it impossible to eat certain foods. When invited out to lunch or dinner should I take tiny portions of the food I cannot eat and leave them untouched on my plate, or refuse them when passed around the table? I think it is less conspicuous to take a little than refuse dishes that are passed. What is your opinion?

Answer: If you are really not going to eat the food it is pure waste to take it and leave it on your plate. You don't have to eat everything that is served, but let's hope you can eat some of the food.

If One Must Interrupt

Dear Mrs. Post: If it is necessary to interrupt when persons are talking, what is the most polite way to do it?

Answer: Say, "I'm sorry to interrupt," or "Excuse me, please, but Mrs. Brown is on the telephone," or "Mr. Jones is waiting to see you," or whatever it is that makes it necessary for you to interrupt.

What size are table napkins, and how should they be folded? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. You will find answers to these questions included in leaflet E-32, "Table Linen." To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 36, N. Y.

Graham Urges Preaching on Hell

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — With more preaching about hell, evangelist Billy Graham declares, there might be less hell in the community.

Hell is an unpopular subject "but that doesn't mean we should ignore it," Graham Sunday told a Cow Palace audience of 16,200. "We are too interested in our own lives, our own pleasures, our own amusements."

"We don't want to be warned of the dangers that lie ahead," he said.

"I warn you of future retribution. I warn you the day of reckoning is coming."

He described hell as a place where the punishment of a just God is meted out to the wicked, not a sadist's torture chamber.

But hell is an extension of the private hells men make for themselves on earth when they live wrongly, and will be "a place of pangs, torment and craving lusts that cannot be satisfied."

Graham said he believed in hell because the concept is necessary to restrain sin among men and to separate the wicked from the good.

Part of Graduation

CAMBRIDGE, England (AP)—A battered prewar truck was perched today on the roof of Cambridge University's sedate Senate House, where college degrees have been handed out for 200 years.

How did it get there — 150 feet above the street? A dozen prankish students are believed to have hoisted up the truck with a derrick improvised from scaffolding at a nearby work site.

Firemen hoped to get it down today.

Ice cream production in the United States was approximately 650,985,000 gallons in 1956, more than double the 1940 figure.

Sixth Woman Begins Chatterbox Marathon

FAYETTEVILLE, N.C. (AP) — The last of six women in a talking contest for $1,500 worth of household appliances started her chatterbox routine early today.

She was a 24-year-old housewife, Mrs. Frank Williams, who had a rugged task ahead of her.

All five previous contestants had broken the record of 26 1/2 hours set by a college girl on a recent television network show.

No. 5, Miss Vi Brewer, 20-year-old clothing store clerk, had the best time so far, 38 hours, 21 minutes and 2 seconds, before quitting shortly after 1 a. m. today.

Miss Brewer said after she finished that she felt fine.

The women had a 2 1/2-minute rest period every hour as they continued the talkfest one by one in the window of a household appliance store.

Waiting to challenge the winner was Ernie Eye, Fayetteville woman television personality who thought up the contest.

Saugerties High Drops Championship Tilt to Pawling, 2-0

Mormile Nicked For Two Runs In 7th Inning

Saugerties High School's baseball team lost a heartbreaker to Pawling Saturday afternoon at Riverview Field, Poughkeepsie for the Dutchess County championship after Donny Mormile had hurled six hitless innings. The score was 2-0.

Hitless until the top of the seventh, Pawling bunched up three hits to push across the deciding runs in the title contest. Aided by Mormile's only streak of wildness, the Dutchess County squad took advantage of every break.

On the other hand, the Sawyers had every opportunity to break into the run column, but Gene Mulligan, Pawling's tosser, appeared to be at his best when the chips were down. Saugerties had runners on in every inning, but the usually hard-hitting Dutchess County Scholastic League champions just couldn't come through with the big hit.

Sawyer Threat Fizzles
In the opening frame the Sawyers threatened on back to back hits by George Neher and Mormile, but Mulligan retired Don Whitaker and Ed Naccarato to end the threat.

The next real Sawyer threat came in the sixth when Mormile collected his third straight hit. He reached second when Mulligan's attempted pickoff went by the first sacker. He galloped to third on Naccarato's deep flyout to right, but Donny died at the hot corner.

Martino Starts It
Pawling's big frame was started by Joe Martino. He stroked a clean single to right to end his team's hit famine. After that Mormile appeared to lose his effectiveness. He hit Don McCord with a pitch. But on an attempted bunt by John Sage, Martino was thrown out at third. George Snyder to Barry Wolven. But Sage came through with the second hit, moving McCord to third. John Chase sent McCord across with another one-base blow.

Ed Clark continued to put the pressure on Mormile by working him for a walk. George Neilsen then sent home the second tally on a squeeze.

Mormile fanned nine and Mulligan seven. It was Mormile's second loss against seven wins for the season. Wolven won six of the Sawyers' 13 victories.

At the conclusion of the game, Coach Bill Straub accepted the DCSL trophy.

Ben Hogan at Peak of Game In Bid for Fifth U. S. Open

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Confidence was the byword today as the nation's best golfers teed off in practice rounds over the Southern Hills Country Club course in tuneups for the National Open tournament starting Thursday.

Ben Hogan, the determined Texan from Fort Worth, gearing his game for a history-making challenge for a fifth open championship, oozed with optimism as he completed another practice round Sunday.

The four-time open champion told host professional Bill Wetherpoon he played well and Wetherpoon concluded this meant Ben was on the straight and narrow from tee to green. Hogan, sometimes hitting two or three balls, did not indicate his score but Wetherpoon said Hogan smiled wryly after checking into the lockerroom.

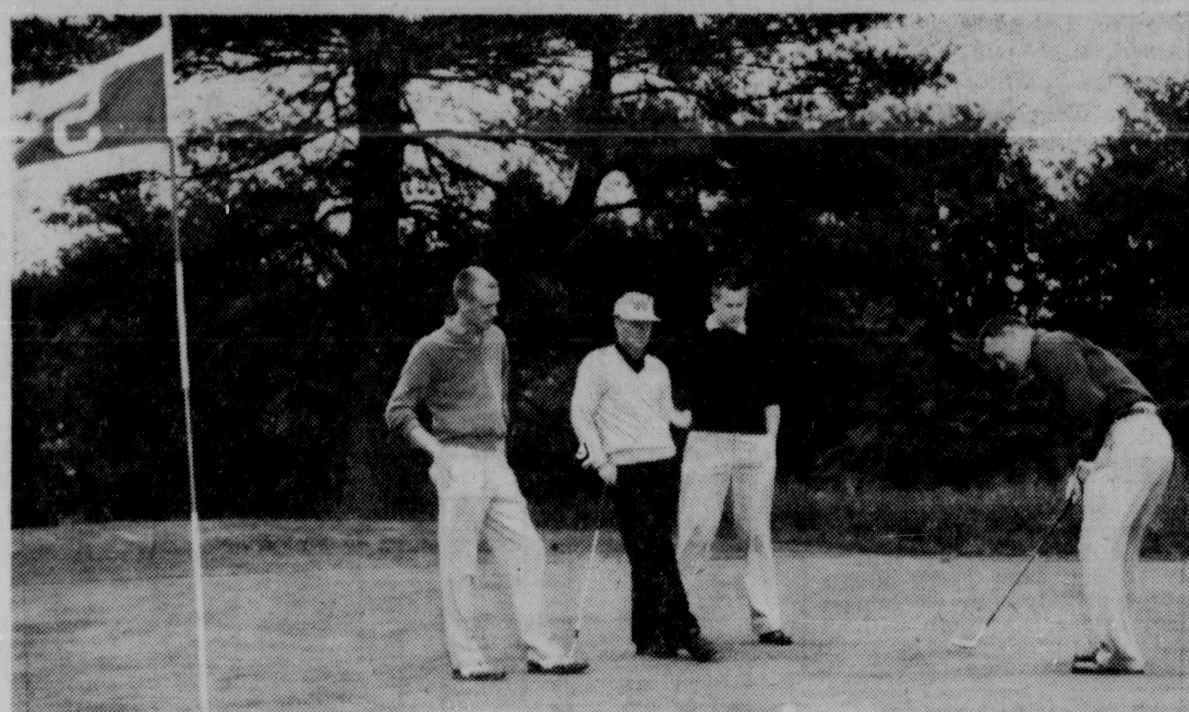

Mayer Not Dismayed
Defending champion Dick Mayer, saddened by a 6-over par 76 in Saturday's National Golf Day competition, wasn't dismayed after his practice stint.

"I've found it," Mayer said, indicating that whatever trouble he was having with his usually grooved swing had been solved. "I'll get them, just you watch," he added.

Some of the better known players checked in for their warmup routines and found the course in perfect shape.

Most observers accepted Lionel Hebert's one-over par 71 in the National Golf Day competition as the standard which could be expected in the tournament proper.

On hand for today's practice were such stars as Arnold Palmer, the Masters' champion; Jimmy Demaret, Billy Casper, and two amateur threats Harvie Ward and Billy Joe Patton plus numerous others who are not quite as well known.

Mrs. John D. Schoonmaker's 63 Paces National Golf Day Play

Winning low net honors in National Golf Day is habit forming in the John D. Schoonmaker Jr. household.

Pere Schoonmaker fired one of the lowest nets in the country a couple years ago to "beat the champ."

Mrs. Schoonmaker, who is known as Ish in golfing circles, did a repeat Saturday, posting a net 63, a stroke lower than Gene Berardi's 64 in the men's contingent at Twaalfskill and two strokes less than Mrs. Frederick P. Platt's winning 65 at Woodstock Country Club.

Mrs. Schoonmaker grossed 95 and had an adjusted handicap of 32. Under NGD rules, women golfers are permitted to add 7 strokes to their regular club handicap.

Twaalfskill had 16 winners among 58 entries. Woodstock placed 11 winners in a field of 52 players who competed against Lionel Hebert's 71. Hebert, the National PGA champion, scored a 71 Saturday in his match against Dick Mayer, U. S. Open champion, at Dallas, Texas, site of the 1958 Open. All winners will receive a "I Beat The Champ" medal.

Shoots 75 Gross

Gene Berardi fired a gross 75 and had 11 handicap to pace Twaalfskill men. Platt shot 108 and had an adjusted handicap of 43 at Woodstock.

Tied with net 66s at Twaalfskill were Dubby Raichle, 71-5-66; and George Hughes, 69-3-66. Supreme Court Justice Harry E. Schirick had 67, with 82 gross and 15 handicap.

Mrs. Anthony J. de Lizio and Allen Waterous had 67s at Woodstock. Mrs. de Lizio fired 81 gross and had an adjusted handicap of 14. Waterous posted 71-4-67.

Richie Barthel and R. Bechford led the Twaalfskill caddie contingent with net 70s. Bechford fired a 76 gross.

Snead's Win at Dallas Hints Drama at Tulsa

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

DALLAS (AP)—Sam Snead was so anxious to get to the scene of the National Open—where he'll make his eighteenth try—that he almost went off without his check for winning the $25,000 Dallas Open Sunday.

Snead took first money here for the second year in a row when he won a playoff with Julius Boros, Gary Player and John McMullin. He attended a hastily arranged "presentation ceremony" where they gave him a dummy check because the real check hadn't yet been written. Then Sam sprinted for an automobile.

Right behind him came Jim Lawson, the tournament director, who managed to throw the authentic check for $3,500 in the window of the car as Snead roared off with a police escort. Sam was catching a plane for Tulsa.

Having Great Year

Snead took one of the finest tournament records of the year to Tulsa where he'll shoot for the title that has so frustratingly eluded him since he started trying for it in 1937. He has played each year that the open has been held since then, and three times managed to finish second. It has become quite an obsession with Snead, who at 46 says he thinks he'll make it before he reaches 50.

Snead has the lowest stroke average in golf—69.20 in 20 rounds. He shot a closing 1-under-par 69 to tie McMullin, the tour freshman from Fair Oaks, Calif.; Boros, the Sphinx-like man from Mid-Pines, N. C.; and Player, the youthful star from Johannesburg, South Africa, all for first place, each with 272 for 72 holes.

In the sudden death playoff, Snead made short work of his rivals. He banged in a 15-footer on the first extra hole for a birdie and Player and Boros took pars, while McMullin didn't even putt out when he saw he could get nothing better than a par.

McMullin started the final round leading by three strokes with 198 for 54 holes.

But he ran into trouble in the stretch and wound up with a 74 and 272 for 72 holes, while Snead and Boros had 69's and Player shot a 68.

at State Fair Park.

Bisch's Indianapolis-type big car traveled the distance in one hour 3 minutes 49.27 seconds, crossing the finish line just two car lengths ahead of Tony Bettenhausen of Tinley Park, Ill.

Staatsburg Spoils Dutchmen Opener in NY-NJ League, 3-1

Joe Molinaro Gains Win, Ostrom, Mann Bat Stars

The Staatsburg Knickerbockers, behind the brilliant pitching of Joe Molinaro and the hitting of the veteran Bill Ostrom and Howie Mann spoiled the Saugerties Dutchmen opener in the New York-New Jersey League yesterday with a 3-1 victory at Cantine Field.

Molinaro, the Poughkeepsie High School sensation, pitched superb ball for five innings before he uncorked a wild pitch in the sixth inning to spoil his shut-out bid.

During his six inning stint he fanned 11 and walked three in besting Clark Mains in an early pitching duel. He was the second of three Dutchmen pitchers. Jim Mackey started for the home club, but gave way to Mains after retiring only one batter in the opening inning. The husky righthander was plagued with arm-trouble. He was touched for a double by Howie Mann, who later scored on Billy Ostrom's hot smash up the middle. Mackey suffers the loss.

The Knickerbockers, managed by Walt Benson appear to have a well-balanced club and will definitely make it hot for Poughkeepsie and Kingston, regarded as the 1-2 punch in the league. The Knicks topped Beacon in its opener Saturday afternoon.

The Dutchmen's only real threat was in the sixth inning, but that was helped along on a wild pitch and a balk by Molinaro. Brice came home with the only run when a Molinaro fast ball went into the dirt and got by Benson.

Billy Straub, batting for Mains in the same frame, bounced one off Hess' glove at shortstop for an error to keep the Dutchmen hopes alive. He moved to second when Molinaro balked, but the catch rightly proceeded to retire the side without further difficulty.

Ostrom and Mann were the big stickers for the Dutchess nine with a combination of eight hits. Each poked four hits, accounting for all the runs.

Tim Tam Mishap Signals End of Great Career

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tim Tam, the Calumet Farm's Kentucky Derby and Preakness winner who suffered a bone break and lost the Belmont Stakes on Saturday, may be permanently retired from racing.

That was the opinion today as the flashy son of Tom Fool rested in his barn at Belmont Park, awaiting a final decision by trainer Jimmy Jones and owner Mrs. Gene Markey, who is in Europe. In any event, the colt who was beaten 6 lengths by Irish-bred Cavan in the mile, and one half race won't be seen on a racetrack for some months. Jones said X-rays of Timmy's right front leg disclosed a break in the sesamoid bone which is between the ankle and hoof.

Highlight of Day
Tim Tam's mishap, which may have cost Calumet its third triple crown and racing a chance to hail a ninth winner of the coveted Derby-Preakness-Belmont grand slam, was the highlight of an active day on the thoroughbred front.

The Kerr Stable's Round Table got back on the winning track in the $53,000 Argonaut Mile at Hollywood Park, winning by a nose over How Now under a thrilling stretch drive. Seaneen, who upset Round Table in the $100,000 Californian two weeks ago, finished third.

Round Table, carrying 132 pounds, paid $3.40 and earned $30,000 to shoot his all-time winnings to $1,056,264. Another big one and he'll surpass Citation who retired with $1,085,760.

Red Sox Lead Junior Revival Braves Don't Bother The Bums

Topple Chisox Twice as Yanks Lose Twinbill

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

There is a palace revolution in the American League. Three teams are over .500. The new rebels are the Boston Red Sox, who finally are making a move.

By taking a pair Sunday from Chicago—thus dumping the White Sox into a last-place tie with the Detroit Tigers—the Red Sox stretched their modest winning streak to five.

With Jackie Jensen hitting two homers, including a two-run blast in the 10th, Boston took the opener from Chicago 6-5. A pair of two-run homers by Jim Piersall and Gene Stephens boosted them to a 4-1 sweep. Boston moved within eight games of first place.

Cleveland's two victories over the leading New York Yankees, 14-1 and 5-4, made the league standing a bit more respectable.

Kansas City now trails by 7 1/2 after splitting with Baltimore. Hal Brown and George Zuvernick teamed up to hand the A's their first shutout of the year in the opener 4-0. But Kansas City managed an even break, winning the second 2-1 with only five hits.

Despite home runs by Gus Zernial, Frank Bolling and Billy Martin of the Tigers, Washington sneaked home with a 4-3 decision for Pedro Ramos.

The Red Sox are getting a reputation as come-from-behind kids. They rallied in all four games against Chicago in their series sweep. Don Eddins, Dick Gernert and Jensen all had hit homers off Billy Pierce before Jensen again connected with one on in the 10th.

Boston had only five hits while Chicago had 19 in defeat, including five by Billy Goodman. Leo Kiely was the winner.

Piersall and Stephens, Ted Williams' replacement, did the heavy work while Dave Sisler held Chicago to six hits in the second game.

Rocky Colavito was the big man for the Indians with a double, triple and homer in that 19-hit attack in the opening game with the Yankees.

Johnny Kucks, knocked out in the first inning, became a two-time loser for the day when Russ Nixon hit a home run off him in relief in the seventh inning of the second game. Colavito also hit a two-run homer in that second contest.

Ray Narleski and Dick Tomarek were the Indian winners. Among other Yankee misdeeds, Mickey Mantle dropped a fly ball for a three-base error that opened the door for Cleveland to score five times after two were out in the third inning of the weird opener.

The Orioles' Brown allowed four hits in six innings before giving up to Zuvernick, who slugged a two-run triple. Bo Martin's throw cut down the potential tying run at the plate to save Kansas City's 2-1 margin in the eighth inning of the second game.

Gus Zernial tied a major league record at Washington with his ninth homer as a pinch hitter.

Little LEAGUERS

Thomas Hurls Perfect Game

Ronnie Thomas hurls a perfect game and fanned 18 straight batters in the opening game of the American Little League Saturday afternoon, as his Masonic Dodgers trimmed the Electrol Giants, 12-0. In the second game, the Yanks edged the Red Sox, 4-3.

It was the first Kingston Little League perfect game. Several weeks ago Paul Natale of the Gloucester-East Kingston League accomplished the feat.

Thomas also added luster to his performance with a two-run homer. Covy and Misasi shared the mound chores for the losing Dodgers. Smith and Manfro each slapped doubles, while Van Ethen, Smith and Thomas had the other safeties.

He has seen victory in the Chavez Ravine referendum, and a refreshing surge by his Dodger ball club. By beating Milwaukee Sunday 12-4, they made it five in a row over the Braves this year.

The three-game series with the Braves drew 171,326, a National League record. In 27 home dates, the Dodgers have pulled 810,451 into the Coliseum. This is 157,373 ahead of last year's record pace at Milwaukee when the Braves played before 2,215,404 at home.

By beating Milwaukee, the Dodgers helped the San Francisco Giants stay in first place, despite San Francisco's 6-3 defeat by Cincinnati.

Los Angeles failed to climb out of the cellar, however, when Philadelphia finally edged St. Louis 6-4 in 14 innings after dropping the opener 6-5 in 10 innings. Harry Anderson's third homer of the day with a man on in the 14th saved the Phils from the basement.

One-Hit Shutout

Moe Drabowsky of Chicago pitched a one-hit shutout against Pittsburgh, winning 4-0 with the help of homers by Ernie Banks and Walt Moryn. The only hit was Ted Kluszewski's single.

Johnny Podres gave up 11 hits to the Braves before 57,122 at Los Angeles but it didn't matter. The Dodgers, clubbed loser Gene Conley and three successors for 19.

Birdie Tebbetts did some fancy master-minding at San Francisco, where his Cincinnati Redlegs finally pulled one out with three in the ninth.

With the score tied at 3-3, and Steve Bilklo up and two strikes on him, Tebbetts sent up Smoky Burgess as a pinch hitter. Marv Grisom hit Smoky with a pitched ball, forcing in the tiebreaking run as Tebbetts charged he deliberately threw at his man. Don Hoak's single added the extra two. Brooks Lawrence went the distance for his third victory.

Anderson hit a single, double and two homers in the first game for the Phils but St. Louis won on Del Ennis' sacrifice fly after three walks in the 10th. Anderson took matters in his own hands in the second with his two-run blast in the 14th after the Phils pulled even with two in the eighth and two in the ninth.

Banks hit his 17th homer and Moryn his 12th off loser Ronnie Kline while Drabowsky was doing a job on the Pirates. In addition to Kline's single, three others reached base, one walked and two made it on errors.

Says U. S.-Canada Economic Ties Need Food Bank

MIDDLETOWN, Conn. (AP)—Canadian Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker says Canadian-United States economic relations could be improved by establishment of a NATO food bank.
He said the food bank would both help eliminate food surpluses and make strategic food reserves available in the event of war.
In an address at Wesleyan University's 126th commencement Sunday, the Canadian leader said the plan is part of a four-pronged "imaginative policy that could improve Canadian-United States economic relations."
Diefenbaker received an honorary doctor of laws degree.
His other proposals:
1. Creation of legislative Canadian-United States relations committees in Parliament and Congress.
2. Removal of "overhanging" surpluses of wheat and other storable farm products.
3. Joint action by Canada and the United States on unemployment problems.

Midwest Storms Bring Wet Weather Outlook

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
More wet weather was the outlook for broad areas of the country today in the wake of Sunday's violent storms in sections of the Midwest.
Tornado winds lashed areas in Iowa, Illinois, Indiana and Kansas as heavy rain and hail swept the central Plains states eastward into the lower Great Lakes region.
A tornado struck the southeast edge of New Castle, Ind., causing an estimated $75,000 damage to property. No injuries were reported. Twisters also damaged some houses at La Porte City, Iowa. Most severe storms in Illinois were in the northwestern part of the state.

15 Colleges in State Hold Commencement on Sunday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

That annual threesome—gratified graduate, proud parent, smiling dignitary—look over the New York State scene Sunday as at least 15 colleges and universities held commencement exercises.
Honorary degrees went to a variety of Americans—G. Keith Funston, president of the New York Stock Exchange; John A. McCone, newest member of the Atomic Energy Commission; movie actor Kirk Douglas, U. S. Sen. William Fulbright, bridge builder David B. Steinman.

Degree to Woman

Niagara University awarded a degree to a woman for the first time in its 101-year history. The degree of doctor of humane letters was given to Mrs. Alanson C. Deuel, widow of the former publisher of The Niagara Falls Gazette, for outstanding social and public service. A class of 240 graduated.

Funston told job-seeking graduates at St. Lawrence University that the business recession was stubborn but not crushing. Funston said the economy was undergoing "one of the less happy changes a free people must learn to cope with in the business cycle."

Alumni Honored

Besides Funston, St. Lawrence awarded honorary degrees to alumnus Douglas Seimman and Carleton M. Fisher, president of the Universalist Church of America.

Clarkson College hastily revised a citation when it learned that Los Angeles-resident McCone had been appointed Friday to the AEC. The citation that accompanied McCone's degree of doctor of humane letters read:

"Your readiness to accept high responsibility and to serve mankind with vision and skill is worthy of emulation by all young men."

Clarkson awarded other honorary degrees to France Pace, president of the General Dynamics Corp. and former Army secretary and Percy C. Spencer, president and board chairman of Sinclair Oil Corp. There were 250 graduates.

Rockefeller Speaker

Millionaire philanthropist Nelson A. Rockefeller addressed the 665 graduates at Buffalo State Teachers College. Rockefeller, a leading possibility for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, made no mention of politics.

"Our national character is importantly in the hands of its teachers," he said. "No greater career or purpose could possibly be conceived."

The University of Rochester awarded degrees to 1,045 Robert M. Hutchins, president of the Fund for the Republic, declared that only through disarmament and world government could nations avoid nuclear suicide.

A class of 193 was graduated from Skidmore College at Saratoga Springs.

At the University of Buffalo, 867 graduates were addressed by their chancellor, Clifford C. Furnas.

In Syracuse, Dr. Carlyle Jacobson was installed formally as president of the State University's Upstate Medical Center. Seventy-one new physicians received their degrees.

Harpur College, the liberal arts unit of the State University, held its 8th commencement. President Deane W. Malott of Cornell University told the 108 Harpur graduates they should participate in politics either as officeholders or voters. Politics is "our great and continuing experiment in the management of a democracy," Malott said.

Motel Clerk Plunges To Death in Canyon

GRAND CANYON, Ariz. (AP)—A man plunged to his death from south rim of the Grand Canyon Sunday before the horrified eyes of 75 tourists.

He was Donald Mark, 43, a Grand Canyon motel clerk. John McLaughlin, Grand Canyon National Park superintendent, said Mark "apparently was just playfully jumping from stone to stone, slipped and fell several hundred feet."

KYOTO, Japan (AP)—A marble monument to the Allied soldiers who died on Japanese soil in World War II was dedicated Sunday at the base of the Buddhist statue to Japan's own war dead.

Japs Dedicate Monument to Harvard Teacher

NARA, Japan (AP)—Grateful Japanese today dedicated a monument to the late Dr. Langdon Warner of Boston for influencing Allied authorities to spare the cultural cities of Nara and Kyoto from wartime bombing.

On the third anniversary of his death, remembrances to the Harvard professor—a cedar, a small granite tablet and a miniature Buddhist stone pagoda—were placed on a serene hillside overlooking the 1,300-year-old Horyuji temple.

Those who watched the dedication included Dorothy Blair, researcher in the Corning (N. Y.) Museum of Glass.
